

02.19.12

CAMPUS CORNER

Tyler Ellis, Campus Minister
(302) 766-3003

www.btylerellis.com

www.facebook.com/BTylerEllis

www.twitter.com/BTylerEllis

btylerellis@hotmail.com

www.bluehensforchrist.net

www.facebook.com/BlueHensForChrist

SPRING SEMESTER This is my thirteenth semester as a Campus Minister, and I'm just as excited as ever. Already two weeks into the spring semester, Blue Hens for Christ is off to a great start. Kristen Mintzer and Tessa Brooks are doing a great job as student President and Vice President, always there to pitch in, provide leadership, and help students feel welcome.

Our first two Paradigms (Tuesday night dinners & Bible studies) have gone very well. Several new students have showed up at our events, having heard about BHC through our posters on campus, website, twitter, Student Activities Night booth, and from personal invitations.

Last week we started two new series. On Tuesday nights we're studying a book called The Christian Atheist, by Craig Groeschel; and Thursday nights we're viewing and discussing a DVD series called, "Is The Bible Reliable?" Special thanks to Harold Friedline for providing excellent supplementary handouts.

To all who participated in Student Sunday and potluck last week, "Thanks!" We cherish your support! In case you missed my message, "Why Do Christians Feel Compelled To Convert The Whole World?" you can listen to the podcast at: www.newarkchurchaudio.podomatic.com.

BHC'S STUDENT SECRETARY SERVES IN GUATEMALA Over Winter Session, Andrew Smith traveled to Guatemala with the University of Delaware's chapter of Engineers Without Borders. For four weeks, they constructed a bridge over Rio Vibora in a small community called San Jose Petacalapa. The river cuts right down the middle of the community and divides the main population from their fields where they grow corn and coffee. The bridge will allow members of the community to cross the river safely during the rainy season and increase crop production.

In June, the engineering students will return for a post-assessment trip and look for new project opportunities. Please keep the students and the Guatemalan people in your prayers.

NEW WEBSITE/BLOG: WWW.BTYLERELLIS.COM

On a personal note, it's been a longtime goal of mine to become an author. If you follow my status posts on Facebook, you've probably noticed that I'm getting close to publishing my first book, Question Everything. It is scheduled to hit the press this summer! And I'm thrilled to have received endorsements from a handful of people, such as Gary & Anne Marie Ezzo, Ray Comfort, Rick Atchley, and many more remarkable people.

In preparation for the book's debut, I have launched a new website at www.btylerellis.com. There, my book will eventually be available as a PDF eBook, in addition to the bound copy sold on Amazon. I'm especially excited that 10% of the proceeds will go to sponsoring Bible translation through www.oneverse.org.

Also on my website is a new BLOG! Its theme is "dedicated to exploring the challenge of knowing God and helping others do the same." I humbly acknowledge that, by no means am I an authority on this subject, so I'll be sharing what I'm learning as I go.

My weekly posts will vary from interviews, stories, ideas, news, playlists, resources, reviews, giveaways, guest posts, and more!

I'd be honored if you would stop by the website and see if it's something you'd be interested in following. If not, I welcome your feedback. If so, I welcome your participation.

Five Ways You Can Help Spread The Word

1. Join the conversation by leaving comments on each blog post.
2. Subscribe to the blog, entering your email address to receive email notifications of each new post.
3. Share the link of my website or of a specific blog post through: Facebook, Twitter, email, etc.
4. Link your blog or website (if you have one) to my website.
5. Email me your ideas for relevant blog post topics.