

Busy At The Time

A few years ago I was given a birthday card by a friend. Unable to open it at that time, I slipped the card into my overcoat and forgot about it until the next winter when I pulled the coat out to face another cold day. Inside the card was a crisp $100 bill that had been waiting patiently for me in the darkness of my closet.

The gift was there, but I had put it aside. I wonder how much love and mercy from God we may have missed over the years because we dismissed a dream or intuitive feeling that was a gift of God to us. Don't get me wrong, I believe the Bible is God's primary and best revelation to us all, but God loves us so much that some messages are sent through other means, such as dreams.
