

Lyndon Amick Bio

Professional race car driver (NASCAR Busch Series from 1997-2003), soldier (Sergeant in Operation Enduring Freedom, Afghanistan), successful businessman (affordablesapparel.com), son (father is Bill Amick), sports enthusiast, church attender, husband, and father. That is the Lyndon Amick most people saw prior to 2010. Lyndon Amick was completely lost and without God. All those accomplishments masked an inner emptiness and a much darker story that played out mostly in secret and behind closed doors. All that changed in January 2010 when the mask was exposed and Lyndon surrendered his desperate heart to the fierce love of God and immersed a broken man in a life-changing love. Pursuing God is the sole aim, purpose, and desire of Lyndon's life now. He lives near Batesburg, SC in rural Saluda County with his wife, Melanie, and their four children.
