THE PROPHET JEREMIAH

ABOUT SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS after Isaiah had warned Judah to turn back to God or be punished, God called Jeremiah. He was also to warn the people of Judah (the southern kingdom) to turn from their sin of worshipping idols.

At God's instruction, Jeremiah went to the house where a potter made clay pots. He watched the potter shape the pot, but there was a flaw in it. So the potter reformed the clay into another pot that was more sustainable to him. God's message to Jeremiah was that just as the potter could reshape the flawed pot, God could reshape Judah if they would let Him by turning from their idol worship to Him.

God told Jeremiah to go buy a clay pot and take it to tell God's message to the people of Judah. Jeremiah obeyed. He told the people that God was going to bring a terrible disaster on them if they did not repent of their idol worship and sin and turn to Him.

Then Jeremiah broke the pot he had bought. He told them that God said just as Jeremiah broke the pot and it could not be repaired, God would break the nation of Judah. Many people would die; everyone would suffer when conquered by enemies.

Jeremiah's message was clearly understood. The people had a choice. They could obey God and He would bless them, or they could be broken like the clay pot. God loved His people. He wanted them to do right and be blessed. He gave them the choice. They chose to continue in sin and were conquered by their enemies.
