

JANUARY NEWS

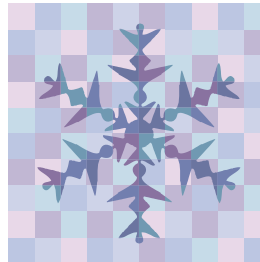

Preschool Welcomes 2018

Dear Parents,

Winter is here! As we bundle up in our heavy layers, this month we will learn about how our forest friends handle the harsh weather. Do the animals hibernate or migrate? How do they find food? How do they stay warm? Some of the great books we will be reading to help answer these questions include: When it starts to snow, Hibernation Station, and Time to Sleep. We will also look at animals who love cold weather!

We will be doing an "Author Study" featuring Jan Brett. Her fabulous winter tales of The Mitten and The Hat fit perfectly into our curriculum for the month.

- Be on the lookout for several snow-inspired Crafts to make their way home as well.

Weekly Highlights

- ☺ Week one: Welcome back
- ☺ Week two: Snowmen
- ☺ Week three: Bears
- ☺ Week four: Penguins

Students begin their JOURNALS this month.

The kids love their "Big kid" work. You can ask your child about what they did in their journals today.

Journals will come home at the end of the month

A few monthly reminders

- Registration for next year begins now. There are 3 weeks of in-house-only registration before open registration begins on Monday January 22. Everyone who will be returning must register for the 2018-19 school year.
- If there is no school due to a weather emergency, Facebook is our quickest tool for letting everyone know, next will be an email blast.

As always if you have questions or concerns please don't hesitate to ask!
