On the Road Enjoying the Best of Two Worlds

We've been traveling since mid June.

Autumn, 2017

The news from the Bible School is encouraging. Over 440 resident students are seeking God and growing in wisdom as they study. Testimonies come frequently:

*Student Alan Barton dreamt about uniting cities all over Latin America in one big interconnected prayer meeting for each nation and for revival. On October 22, in various countries, 101 cities united in prayer in the central plaza of each city. Up to a thousand believers came together in some cities. Wow!

*Micaela writes: "This time has been so good! Just today I was thinking of how much I've changed since coming to IBRP. I don't recognize myself."

*Carolina organized an event in the center of Buenos Aires to bring more awareness concerning human trafficking.

We return to Argentina on December 29. These months in the US have been so rewarding. Seeing friends and being in churches that believe in Missions, in us, and in what God is doing in the Bible School. We feel humbled, grateful, and are very aware that this hasn't been a human goal or a personal project. Your years of intercession and backing are bringing great results. The future is bright with hope as students hear His voice and obey without fear.

PRAYER REQUESTS:

- *Help with student scholarships
- *Remodeling kitchen and daycare
- *Married couples and families are called to prepare. We also train their children.

Missionary Heartbeat

Autumn, 2017

by Rocky Grams

Seasoned fishermen that they were,
Did they not sense the impending storm?
Did He not know that He was sending them straight into the storm?
Did He not realize the risk--
The enormous risk of being out there in the dark
Twelve of them in a flimsy boat?
Did He know?
Did He play a little with the mystery as "He would have passed them by"?
Was there not a twinkle in His eye as He skipped from wave to wave?
Did He laugh when Peter climbed out of the boat?
Did He not exult about the impetuous and headstrong friend
Who had the idea to join Him in the dark,
In the middle of the storm with no recourse but his faith?
Surely He did enjoy the moment of seeing Peter imitate His stride--
Mighty God riding on the storm.
Then, mighty hand of God plucking him out of the water
Like a wet and drowning schoolboy.
Were the others jealous of their companion's
Small adventure of enormous faith?

Does He not send us out into the storm?
With failing natural resources and a howling wind.
Fear in our hearts as we struggle in the dark
With the lot He has orchestrated for us.
"Go to the other side,"

To the country of Gennesaret.
Where a crowd awaits bound and hurting.
Crying out in the darkness of their inner storm.
Begging even to touch the hem of His garment.
And so our Lord sends so many out with so little.
He sent us out and is doing so again--into the storm.
