Spiritual “Makeover” Event

Well, believe it or not, we are only five days away from our Spiritual “Makeover” Event (alias revival). Some of you may be thinking that we, the staff, have lost our minds by promoting our revival as a Spiritual “Makeover” Event. I would argue that this one member of the staff lost my mind long before we started planning for our revival. Last week, I became convicted about the effect that “Fall Revival” might have on those reading the newspaper promotion. How many people besides those of us who have grown up in a Baptist church would know what a revival is, anyway? I called Jim and Ralph together, shared with them my concern, and we began to brainstorm about an alternative for “Fall Revival”. It was not an easy procedure but we continued to throw out alternative considerations and settled on Spiritual “Makeover” Event. We believe that those three words convey what we will be promoting on this street corner during the services that we will be conducting. We want “spiritual” change to come to lives, “makeover” is a household word that anyone can understand, and the five services are collectively going to be an “event”. I rest our case. We are living in a world that is communication conscious and so we must communicate in a vernacular that everyone in Uvalde understands, not just church folks. With that said, we have communication tools (posters, handouts, invitation business card, etc.) in the office if you would like to pick up some of those tools to make available at your business or as you invite friends to come to the services with you. Remember, the best prospects for our Spiritual “Makeover” Event are in your head and on your heart. Make those contacts as we count down to Spiritual “Makeover” Event 2012. It is indeed a joy to be your shepherd and servant. – Bro. Jerry
