2018 SUMMER SERMON SERIES:

Written to Teach Us, That We Might Have Hope

"For everything that was written in the past was written to teach us, so that through the endurance taught in the Scriptures and the encouragement they provide we might have hope." Romans 15:4

In Romans 15 Paul implores the church to live in unity. Follow Christ's example he says and selflessly edify others. Jesus learned how to live like this by immersing himself in the Old Testament. It was written for this very purpose, to teach us how to live. We learn the obedient humility of Jesus the same way He did, through the endurance and encouragement taught in the Hebrew scriptures. All that was written beforehand was written that we might have hope. So join us this summer as the Hebrew Scriptures teach us how to live as Jesus did, selflessly, obediently and with an unshakeable hope in the goodness and greatness of God.

SUNDAY,

- June 3:
Written to Teach Us... Tenderheartedness
- June 10:
Written to Teach Us... Where to Look
- June 17:
Written to Teach Us... To Be Holy
- June 24:
