

Sari's Testimony

For the first 33 years of my life I did not know Jesus. I was very lost and searched for direction and fulfillment in all the wrong places. I was abandoned by my mother at the age of three. From that time on, I had a huge void in my life. I could spend hours telling you how I tried to fill my emptiness and the consequences of those ungodly decisions. I tried to fill my life with relationships which failed and were abusive. Because my mom rejected me, I felt alienated, insecure, unworthy and alone. I lived a depressed and self destructive lifestyle with no hope. God rescued me from my darkness and from my pit of sin. My transformation began and He started to mold me to reveal truth and light and to give me hope. God is changing me and the best way I can describe this, is that it has been the most painful and yet most beautiful experience of my life. I am free of my bondage and chains. God has shown me love that not even an earthly mother can give me. My emptiness has been filled by the spirit of God Himself and I know He will never abandon me. He knows me; He knows my name and loves me like no other.
