

ADULT CLASSES

Winter 2017-2018 Schedule

Dec 3rd-Feb 25th

Our Sunday morning educational hours exist to help adults build relationships and grow spiritually. The classes are designed for people to connect, pray together and encourage one another, as well as provide sound biblical teaching on various topics.

9:30 AM

"In Light of Eternity" / Room 206 - Jeff Adams & Bill Schmidt

What's your attitude toward Heaven, your theology of Heaven? Does it fill you with joy and excitement? How much thought do you give to Heaven? This quarter we will look at Randy Alcorn's book and explore a robust, accurate and biblically-energized view of Heaven that will bring new spiritual passion to your life.

"Jonah Was a Mess!" / Room 104 - Dr. Steve Stephens

This class will walk through the Book of Jonah in light of his emotions—the roller coaster of his excitement, fear, anger, revenge, depression, pride, contentment and hatred. We will deal with the dangers and a healthy, biblical management of each of these.

"Biblical Perspectives on Social Issues of Today" / Room 207 - Wes Friesen

We will be taking a biblical (not political) look at social issues of today in order to help us better pray, teach and speak truth in love. Issues covered include roles of government, racism/sexism, life, social justice, sexuality, etc.

11:00 AM

"Revelation" / Room 104 - Tom Tillman

God promises a special blessing to all who read and hear Revelation. This class will continue to read it, hear it and seek to understand what the teaching in Revelation means to us.

"The Minor Prophets" / Room 207 - Phil Steckmann, Glenn Hoerr

This class will continue to review the minor prophets looking at understanding their historical context, doctrinal significance and practical meaning for living for God today.

"Christmas Through the Eyes of Joseph" and "Gideon - Mighty Man of Valor" / Venue Room - Rick Irvine, Rich Hiebert, Dennis Sloan

Follow Joseph's example during this Advent season, and exchange doubt for courage as we learn to accept and glorify God's will. Beginning in January the topic shifts to the life of Gideon, a simple countryman. He was a man who gave himself to God. In turn God has given him back to us for example, encouragement, and meaningful inspiration.
