

The McClerkin Messenger

March 17th, 2015

Dear Friends and Family,

The folks at McKenzie Health & Rehabilitation Center were an absolute joy to visit this past month. I (Greg) do have to say it was a unique challenge speaking to a group of people who had so much wisdom, though. (There were two ladies present who were over 100 years old!) As a whole, these residents showed a lot of interest in our work and, after our time of sharing, they asked the administration to invite us back soon. Latoya and I were so blessed by their encouraging words and by their love for Jesus.

One of the most special experiences this venue afforded us was the opportunity to have a Q&A session with people who could associate our lives in South Sudan with their lives way back when. There was plenty of talk revolving around eating chicken feet, living a pioneer lifestyle, and the like!

What's Happening Now & What's Coming Soon

The long-awaited, much-anticipated mission meals began in the Appalachian Conference on March 13th and will continue through the 21st. As always, we're soaking up the opportunity to fellowship with so many like-minded Brothers and Sisters in this event.

If you live in the Tennessee Valley Conference, we'll soon be coming to your area! March 29th marks the beginning of our itineration in the TVC. Lord willing, we'll be sharing in churches and other venues there until the end of April.

At a Mission Meal

Please join us in praying for the following needs!

- Open doors for us to share about God's ongoing work in South Sudan and our desire to jump back into it.
- More financial partners as we seek to meet our budget. There is an urgent need for us to return to the field.

Thank you Bishop Moore, pastors, and church members for allowing us to come and itinerate in the Mississippi Conference. We're sad to have to move on but hope to visit with you again soon!

Grateful for your partnership in the Gospel,

Greg, Latoya, & Ethan

Ethan's Corner

A church member invited us to spend some time on his farm recently. It was a fun day for the whole family, but certainly Ethan took the prize for exuberance! Come to find out, this boy loves chickens. He even appears to have a special gift for feeding them. (Thankfully, the museum cow-milking mishap of last month did not repeat itself in fear factor form on the farm. 😊)

Ethan got a clean bill of health on his eye in the first week of March. Praise the Lord, no more visits to the doctor will be needed!
