

Let the River Flow

On the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried out, saying, "If anyone thirsts, let him come to Me and drink. He who believes in Me, as the Scripture has said, out of his heart will flow rivers of living water"
John 7:37-38.

In the wilderness when Moses smote the rock it released a supernatural flow of water that quenched the physical thirst of two million Jews and their livestock. Now at the Feast of Tabernacles Jesus, the stumbling stone and rock of offense, offers to quench our spiritual thirst and even cause us to be conduits of rivers of living water. Earlier in Samaria He promised the woman at the well that drinking the water He offers would create within us a fountain of water springing up into everlasting life. The Holy Spirit's work in salvation connects me to the flow of God's life but the baptism of the Holy Spirit supernaturally enables me to pour out rivers of His life to the dry and desperate situations around me. A man will be as a hiding place from the wind, And a cover from the tempest, As rivers of water in a dry place, As the shadow of a great rock in a weary land Isaiah 32:2. Drink deep but remember to pour out of your unending supply.
