

Hope for Haiti August 2013 Newsletter

Being part of Hope for Haiti requires investment. Whether it's time, talents, or treasures, we are excited to bring you updates on what God is doing through projects and people in Haiti. Thank you for investing with us. Here's some ways your investment has rippled from America to Haiti!

Investing time in Haiti requires a stop at Bois Neuf. Does the building look different than the last time you've seen it? Not only has a stump been removed that caused backing out of the property worrisome, but Haitians have also contributed to completing the second phase of the classrooms on the south side.

See more at <http://www.hopeforhaiti.ws/#/projects/bois-neuf>.

You can continue to invest time. Take a minute or two and check out Pastor Marcel in the mountains of Colorado. These videos appeared on Facebook, and now they are on a special website page: <http://www.hopeforhaiti.ws/#/photosvideos/colorado-video-clips>.

Investing talents in Haiti requires a call to action. Colmini, located in the desert, could be the home of solar power. Do you know someone with expertise in this area? Do you know a company with the talents to volunteer? Contact Hope for Haiti via email (saintmarchaiti@gmail.com), Facebook, or postal mail (7119 Tyner Crossing Dr., Chattanooga, TN 37421) with your suggestions.

You can continue to invest talents. A medical team will be traveling to Haiti September 12-21. Pray for the team to see God at work. They will be traveling to a remote location to teach those without easy access to medical facilities how to do basic healthcare, and especially midwifery. They will also host clinics.

Investing treasures in Haiti requires a more personal touch. Sponsors who have invested in children at Bois Neuf, Charette, or Colmini can look forward to updated pictures and information about your child coming soon. Not a sponsor yet? Invest your heart. A small amount gives a child a chance at education, which can turn into a ripple effect for generations. Learn more at <http://www.hopeforhaiti.ws/#/the-children/sponsor-a-child>.

You can continue to invest treasures by building a bag. Without leaving your home, you can send school supplies and needed items by visiting our website's Build a Bag page <http://www.hopeforhaiti.ws/#/projects/build-a-bag>. Our volunteers will collect the items you've chosen for a suggested donation of $25 and send the items to Haiti for a little boy or girl most in need.

Thank you again for your time, talents, and treasures. God bless.
