the Limiting Physical Constraints
involved in Intergalactic Space Travel
The discussion in the article entitled UFO Phenomena established two very important parameters related to UFO manifestations and alien visitations.

The probability that other planets exist within our expansive Universe capable of supporting life is only approximately 1 chance out of a 100 million = $1 \times 10^{-8}$.

The complexity and information content of DNA must be the product of design by a supernatural (divine) Creator. The probability is essentially “zero”.

But even if you don’t believe the previous results and conclusions; namely (1) the infinitesimally small probability of finding a planet in this expansive Universe capable of sustaining life and (2) the [basically] zero probability of life “organizing” itself by chance; there is much bigger problem. It’s a problem related to the physics of space-time and relativistic kinetic energy.

The real problem, and it’s a major one, is with the physics of massive objects traveling at the speed-of-light\(^2\). More specifically, the problem is one of the enormous amounts of energy required to accelerate a spaceship to speeds near that of light.

The analysis in this section\(^3\) will reveal the physical impossibility of alien life visiting earth from planets from within our own galaxy, let alone from other galaxies. This supports the previous conclusion that UFOnauts are not visitors from another planet, but are in fact supernatural beings whose purpose is to deceive and cause confusion—they are demonic entities!

Understanding the physics required to accomplish inter-stellar space travel at the speed-of-light, including intra-galactic (within our own galaxy) as well as inter-galactic (beyond our own galaxy), shows the impossibility of such space travel. The result of this analysis will confirm the previous the conclusion\(^4\) that the mysterious “occupants” of UFO’s cannot be from other planets within our own or other galaxies nor can they be real, physical entities.

The Extraterrestrial Hypothesis (ETH) states that “aliens” are visiting the earth in real physical spacecraft. DECEPTION

In the 1950’s and 60’s, coinciding with the promotion of the teaching of evolution in schools, the idea of aliens evolving on other planets and who are now visiting earth, became popular.

Scores of movies and TV shows that millions of people have seen also popularized this concept\(^5\). Although most of these movies are entertaining, some are even thought-provoking, perhaps these movies are inadvertently preparing the world for the Grand Deception of Satan working through the ‘anti-Christ\(^6\)’, which the Bible describes:

Let no one deceive you by any means; for that Day will not come unless the falling away comes first, and the man of sin is revealed, the son of perdition, who opposes and exalts himself above all that is called God or that is worshiped, so that he sits as God in the temple of God, showing himself that he is God.—2 Thessalonians 2:3-4

The coming of the lawless one is according to the working of Satan, with all power, signs, and lying wonders, and with all unrighteous deception among those who perish.—2 Thessalonians 2:9-10

The dragon\(^7\) gave him his power, his throne, and great authority.—Revelation 13:2

But both he and Satan will ultimately be destroyed by Jesus Christ Himself:

And then the lawless one will be revealed, whom the Lord will consume with the breath of His mouth and destroy with the brightness of His coming.—2 Thessalonians 2:8

The devil, who deceived them, was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone where the beast\(^8\) and the false prophet are. And they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.—Revelation 20:10

We can summarize the nature of alien encounters and ‘abductions’ as follows:

- Abductees are typically controlled by a powerful external force and have no control of the situation
- Abductees often have no conscious recollection/memory of the experience
- Abductees can receive physical injuries and/or markings during their experience
- The abductee experience has similarities to Out-Of-Body Experiences and Near Death Experiences (OBEs and NDEs).

All of these experiences parallel those usually experienced by those who engage in occult practices. This is consistent with the fact that Christians seem to be immune from these abductions and control of the “aliens”.

Furthermore, the following eight stages of extraterrestrial contact\(^9\) are commonly reported by those suffering with what has been termed, the Classic Abduction Syndrome (CAS).

- Capture.........................usually at night, driving in a car or walking alone
- Examination....................crude medical examinations of physical anatomy
- Conference.....................telepathic communication; future events are discussed
- Tour.................................spaceship technology, including incubatoriums etc.
- Otherworldly journey......supposedly to another environment or planet

\(^6\) The anti-Christ is also referred to a the ‘lawless one’, ‘man of sin’ and the ‘son of perdition’.

\(^7\) Another name for Satan. Other names include that ‘serpent of old’ and the ‘Devil’ (Revelation 13:9)

\(^8\) A reference to the anti-Christ since he is described in Revelation 13:1 as the ‘beast with 10-horns’.

\(^9\) In this case the ‘contact’ is considered a “close encounter of the 3rd kind”.

• Theophany........................meeting a ‘divine’ being or religious ‘master’
• Return................................return to familiar environment, told to forget experiences
• Aftermath..............................no recollection or memory but symptoms of physical interference such as injuries and/or markings

In April of 2018 MSN did an online poll asking the question, “Do you think there is intelligent life on other planets?” The results should not be too surprising: 51% answered “VERY LIKELY”, 25% answered “SOMewhat LIKELY”, while “24% answered “NOT LIKELY”. Thus, 76% of those responding believe there is probably alien life living on other planets.

Significantly, one of the strangest aspects of the conventional UFO narrative is one that reframes earth’s religious history. This is done by promoting the idea that extraterrestrials were instrumental in the formation of all the major religions of the world as a psychological experiment. However, we need to remember that two-thirds of “extraterrestrial messages” contradict the teachings of the Bible—they are mutually exclusive. Refer to page 22.

There is even a claim that extraterrestrials have a type of recording device that has recorded all of earth’s history and can display it in the form of a 3-D hologram. This specifically includes a recording of the actual crucifixion of Jesus Christ (obviously a deception)! And on it goes.

The common denominator for both secular evolutionists and advocates of extraterrestrial presence in the universe is the belief that evolution has occurred for countless eons on the earth all over the universe. THIS POINT CANNOT BE EMPHASIZED STRONGLY ENOUGH—IT IS THE BASIS FOR VIRTUALLY ALL BELIEF IN ALIEN LIFE, WHATEVER FORM ONE THINKS THAT “LIFE” MAY TAKE. GRAND DECEPTION, anyone?

THE SPACE-TIME PROBLEM PRECLUDES INTER-STELLAR SPACE TRAVEL

First, let’s consider the hypothesis that the aliens may come from one of the planets in our Solar System. Mercury and Venus are much too close to the Sun, rotate very slowly and are therefore too hot. Additionally, Venus has a poisonous atmosphere comprised of thick sulfuric acid clouds.

The large outer planets (Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune) are known as “gas giants” and they are blanketed by thick clouds of toxic gases (primarily hydrogen and helium) and lack a well-defined surface. Therefore, they cannot sustain life.

It is true that are numerous, fairly large, moons orbiting these outer planets but they are barren, freezing cold, desolate waste places and lack an atmosphere to sustain life.

There seems to be only one possible candidate, the planet Mars, but we (i.e., the Martian “Rover” excursions) have not observed any life there despite the claims that there is a “face” and “pyramids” on the surface (both claims have been disproven even though they persist). And Mars’ rarified atmosphere is mostly carbon dioxide (96%), which is unable to support life.

Second, since the planets in our Solar System can’t be the source of extraterrestrials, we need to step back and scientifically investigate whether or not it’s even possible that “they” can visit us from planets 10’s of thousands and even millions of light-years away.

10 Included in personal correspondence from John Lear to UFO researcher Lee Graham, dated January 24, 1988. Mr. Lear is a fanatical conspiracy theorist who many people believe is himself involved in a conspiracy of deception. (John Lear is son of William Lear, co-founder of the Lear-Siegler, Corporation.)

11 See Gary Bates, Alien Intrusion: UFOs and the Evolution Connection, p.36.

12 The Martian “Rover” spacecraft has not even been able to discover any signs of organic bacterial life.
And if it’s not, then one is forced to re-evaluate the source and purpose of UFO encounters and alien abductions. We would also have to conclude they cannot be what they are purported to be in movies and documentaries.

As our understanding concerning the immense size of the Universe has increased, it has become more and more unlikely that aliens could travel the vast distances required—even traveling at the speed-of-light.

The Milky Way is a “multi-armed” spiral galaxy with a diameter between 100,000 and 180,000 light-years\(^{13}\) (ly) and is estimated to contain 100–400 billion stars.

Our Solar System is located within the disk, about 26,000 light-years from the Galactic Center, on the inner edge of the Orion Arm, one of the spiral-shaped concentrations of gas and dust. The stars in the inner radius of about 10,000 light-years form a bulge and one or more bars that radiate from the bulge. The galactic center is detectable from an intense radio source, known as Sagittarius A*, likely a super-massive black hole\(^ {14}\).

Therefore, even if an advanced race of aliens on another planet in our galaxy could build a spacecraft that could travel at the speed-of-light, it would take 10’s of thousands of years to reach earth! And that’s just considering our own galaxy.

Inter-galactic space travel becomes even more problematic because now we are talking about distances measured in 10’s of millions of light-years; which would take 10’s of millions of years travel time at the speed-of-light.

We will now discuss some of the problems associated with intra-galactic space travel.

Consider the following scenario: The aliens have the technology to travel at the speed-of-light and they come from somewhere near the center of our Milky Way galaxy (26,000 ly away). Then, assuming each generation of aliens lives 100 years, this is equivalent to approximately 260 generations having to be born and raised, kept alive and educated so that each successive generation retains the cumulative knowledge and technology over thousands of years.

Of course aliens may have developed a fantastic cryogenic preservation process so that only one generation would need to survive the entire 26,000 year journey and overcome the problems related to generational deep-space travel. This of course assumes that the life-support systems work without failure over a period of 10’s of thousands or even millions of years. That is highly improbable.

But in either case, such an accomplishment would require a massive energy source and also a complex “on-board” technological infrastructure (e.g., food production, waste disposal, computer controls, etc.) and extensive life support systems to keep the aliens alive and healthy for 10’s of thousands of years as they make their journey to earth.

\(^{13}\) Because the distances between stars and galaxies are so great a “light-year” is used to measure them. A “light-year” is defined as the distance light travels in one year and is equivalent to about 9.46 trillion kilometers or about 5.88 trillion miles! Our solar system is about 9 billion kilometers across; therefore it would take only about 4 hours for a beam of light to travel from one side to the other! And it takes only about 5 minutes for light generated on the surface of the sun to reach the earth. But it would take about 4¼ years to get to our nearest star, Alpha Centauri and about 26,000 years to travel to the center of our galaxy!

\(^{14}\) Many astrophysicists are now convinced that every spiral galaxy may contain a black hole at its center and that this is the power source providing the angular momentum that drives the stars’ rotation about the center.
This would require massive spaceships, such as those depicted in the TV movie series “V” or the movie, “Independence Day”; not the small spacecraft (i.e., “flying saucers”) people commonly report seeing!

Of course this problem is seemingly solved by another aspect of the conventional UFO narrative. Namely, the idea that the more commonly seen smaller “flying saucers”, which obviously aren’t designed for inter-stellar space travel, supposedly originate from much larger “mother-ships” stationed high above our atmosphere.

But that still does not solve the problem of the enormous amounts of time required to travel through the immense space in our galaxy or the space between galaxies—even traveling at the speed-of-light.

Nor does it solve the relativistic\(^{15}\) kinetic energy problem and only makes it worse; as we shall see in the next section.

The conventional UFO narratives also bring us to a much more fundamental issue, one that is in direct conflict with the Bible: According to the literal, historical record of the Bible the earth and the Universe are not older than about 6,000 years. This means that even if at the beginning of Creation God made intelligent beings fully advanced on another planet say, just 10,000 light-years away, then even traveling at the speed-of-light they wouldn’t reach us for another 4,000 years!

You see how the conventional explanation of UFO phenomenon is utterly dependent on Evolutionary ideas? It has been said, tongue-in-cheek, that “If earthlings didn’t believe in Evolution, aliens wouldn’t exist”. There’s a lot of truth to that statement!

The belief in extraterrestrials is absolutely linked to belief that evolutionary processes have occurred for eons all over the Universe—this point cannot be overstated and it cannot be emphasized strongly enough.

But the real problem is not with the age-of-the-earth, nor with cryogenic preservation or even the feasibility of the technology required to sustain a group of aliens for deep-space travel.

The space shuttle requires five rocket engines (2 solid fuel and 3 liquid fuel) that must accelerate it to orbital\(^{16}\) velocity; approximately 18,000 mile per hour (mph). But the solid fuel and liquid fuel engines only have enough fuel to burn for 124 sec and 480 sec, respectively.

The total combined thrust, or force, of these five engines is about 2,000 tons (equal to 4 million pounds). But note that the total weight of the space shuttle with a payload is 2,250 tons (equal to 4 ½ million pounds).

Therefore, the space shuttle requires a force (thrust) almost equal to its weight just to accelerate it to only 3 one-thousandths of a percent (0.0027%) the speed-of-light!

However, to get to the moon requires an even more powerful vehicle, the Saturn-V rocket which accelerates a manned capsule and Lunar Lander module to escape\(^{17}\) velocity of 25,000 mph.

\(^{15}\) We are assuming that the aliens have developed an energy source capable of accelerating their spacecraft to the speed-of-light or even faster (i.e., “warp drives”).

\(^{16}\) “Orbital velocity” is the minimum speed required to lift an earth-bound object into an orbit around the earth. This velocity is determined by the mass and thus the gravity of a planet; in this case, earth.

\(^{17}\) “Escape velocity” is the minimum speed required to break an earth-bound object away from the surface gravity of a planetary body; i.e., earth. This quantity is determined uniquely by the mass of a star, planet or moon.
The Saturn-V is a massive 3-stage liquid-fueled, super heavy-lift launch vehicle with a total combined thrust (force) of about 4650 tons (equal to 9.3 million pounds) and total “burn-time” of 1028 seconds (17 minutes).

The total weight of the launch vehicle with a payload is 3400 tons (6.8 million pounds). Therefore, it requires a force (thrust) almost 1½ times its weight just to accelerate the payload to just four one-thousandths of a percent (0.0037%) the speed-of-light.

But let’s take the speed achieved by a Saturn-V rocket engine and assume it has enough fuel to sustain a flight to the stars (which adds a tremendous amount of weight, which will take all the more energy to accelerate it).

Alpha Centauri is the closest star system to our solar system and its 4.37 light-years away. That means it would take more than 4 years to travel that distance traveling at the speed-of-light.

However, traveling at only 25,000 mph (the fastest speed human beings have been able to achieve) it would take about 117,300 years to get to our nearest star! We have to find a way to travel much faster—VERY much faster!

Assuming it were possible to accelerate an object to the speed-of-light at a rate of 9 times the accelerative force of gravity\(^1\) (taking this as the upper limit of biological survivability) then it would take approximately 40 days to achieve such speed.

And this would require rocket engines capable of sustaining thrust almost thousands of times longer than currently available.

But then you would have to expend the same amount of energy to decelerate from the speed-of-light to 0 mph upon arriving at your destination taking another 40 days!

You can see that we need lot’s more energy (lot’s more) to get anywhere near accelerating a spaceship to the speed-of-light.

But that’s not even physically possible because of the kinetic energy constraints! To demonstrate this, we need to review some fundamental concepts of Special Relativity.

The Infinite Kinetic Energy Problem

Kinetic Energy Considerations Preclude Inter-Stellar Space Travel at or Near the Speed of Light!

Normally, for non-relativistic speeds \((v)\), the kinetic energy \((KE)\) of an object with mass \(m\) is given by the “classical” equation:

KE = \frac{1}{2}mv^2. \tag{1}

For relativistic scenarios the factor \(\gamma\) (gamma) is introduced, by which lengths contract and times dilate as the velocity \((v)\) of an object approaches the speed-of-light \((c)\). Known as the Lorentz factor \(\gamma\) is given by the equation:

\[\gamma = \frac{1}{\sqrt{1 - \frac{v^2}{c^2}}}.\]

\(^1\) The accelerative force of gravity (g) is equal to 9.8 meters per second per second or 32 feet per second per second. This is equivalent to increasing speed at the rate of 22 miles/hour every second! So 9 times this would be 198 mph/sec; the maximum sustained acceleration that a human body can withstand.
According to the theory of Special Relativity, the relativistic kinetic energy\(^{19}\) \((KE_R)\) of an object with rest mass \(m\) is given by\(^{20}\) where \(\gamma\) is the Lorentz factor as defined by Equation [2].

Upon inspecting equation [2] one can see that when \(v\) is zero the ratio of \(v^2/c^2\) equals “0” and the Lorentz factor is equal to “1”. In this case, substituting “0” for \(v\) in Equation [1] and “1” for \(\gamma\) in Equation [3], we see that both the non-relativistic kinetic energy and the relativistic kinetic energy is zero; which is as it should be\(^{21}\).

However, one can also see that as the velocity (\(v\)) of an object approaches the value of the speed-of-light (\(c\)) the ratio of \(v^2/c^2\) goes to “1”. When this happens, the quantity inside the square-root sign in Equation [2] becomes 1-1 or 0. The value of the Lorentz factor (\(\gamma\)) is now 1 divided by 0 which is defined as infinite!

Therefore, this means that when any object is accelerated to the speed-of-light (\(v \rightarrow c\)) its kinetic energy would approach an infinite quantity—this is a physical impossibility!

Putting this result into practical terms: since an infinite amount of kinetic energy is a physical impossibility, so is deep-space travel at light-speed!

The idea that warp drives, capable of accelerating spaceships and “star-cruisers” to speeds faster than light (to be able to get around the Universe in a “reasonable” amount of time), is also a physical impossibility because one cannot get past the “infinite energy” barrier. This is true whether “dilithium crystals” exist or not!

And the travel-time would still be a big issue.

I hate to burst anyone’s “bubble”, but, as previously discussed, even if one could travel at 10 times, or even 100 times the speed-of-light, it would still take 2600 years, or even 260 years, respectively, just to travel from the center of our own galaxy!

It’s not like hopping into your Corvette or Tesla roadster and traveling across the country!

\(^{19}\) If the velocity of an object is less than 0.1\(c\) the two Equations [1] and [3] give essentially identical answers and the classical Kinetic Energy (KE) equation can be used to compute the energy: \(KE = \frac{1}{2}mv^2\). However, as the velocity (\(v\)) increases to the speed-of-light (\(c\)), the difference between the two kinetic energy computations first increases logarithmically for \([0 \leq v \leq 0.4c]\) then linearly for \([0.4 < v \leq 0.8c]\) and finally exponentially for \([0.8 < v \leq c]\).

\(^{20}\) Note the similarity to the famous formula derived by Albert Einstein; \(E = mc^2\), which represents mass–energy equivalence and computes the equivalent atomic energy contained in a given mass at rest.

\(^{21}\) The difference of \(\gamma\) from 1 is negligible for speeds much slower than \(c\), such as most everyday speeds—in which case special relativity is closely approximated by Galilean relativity—but it increases at relativistic speeds and diverges to infinity as \(v\) approaches \(c\). For example, a time dilation factor of \(\gamma = 2\) occurs at a relative velocity of 86.6% of \(c\) (\(v = 0.866c\)). Similarly, a time dilation factor of \(\gamma = 10\) occurs at \(v = 99.5\%\) of \(c\) (\(v = 0.995c\)).
And that’s not even considering traveling outside our galaxy, say to Andromeda, which is 2.5 million light-years from earth. So even if one could somehow “cheat” physics and travel, say at 1000 times the speed-of-light, it would still take 2500 years to make that trip! That’s how amazingly immense our Universe is!

But for the sake of discussion let’s use Equation [3] to compute the energy of objects traveling at a fraction of the speed-of-light to see what kind of energy is necessary to travel at speed-of-light velocities, let alone “warp speeds”.

For example let’s suppose we have just 1 pound of material, which is 500 grams or ½ kilogram, and we want to accelerate that mass to say, ½ times the speed-of-light (0.5c = about 150 million meters per sec). So we have \( \gamma \) equal to 1.155, \( v \) equal to 150,000,000 meters/sec and \( m \) equal to 0.5 kilograms. Substituting these values into Equation [3] we get \( 7.02 \times 10^{15} \) Joules.

This doesn’t mean much to most people so let’s put this amount of energy into perspective. A “small” atomic bomb (like the ones dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki) on average releases an equivalent kinetic energy of about 17 kilotons of TNT.

The conversion from Joules to kilotons is accomplished by using the energy-equivalence factor of \( 4.184 \times 10^{12} \) Joules per kiloton of TNT.

Dividing this factor into the energy value we computed using Equation [3] we get 1677 kilotons of TNT. If we further divide this value by 17 kilotons/atomic bomb we get an amount of kinetic energy equivalent to 98 atomic bombs! And this is for only a 1 pound mass!

Now consider the mass that a “mother ship” would have. Think in terms of the starship “Enterprise” in Star Trek or a galactic battle-cruiser of Star Wars or a galactic space-cruiser of Battlestar Galactica fame.

According to one calculation\(^{24}\), the estimated mass of the “starship” USS Enterprise depicted in the series Star Trek is 468 million kilograms (about 516,000 tons).

Using this value for the mass and assuming a speed of just 50% that of light, then using Equations [2] and [3] the kinetic energy needed is equal to 90 billion atomic bombs!

If we increase the speed to 99.999% that of light then the kinetic energy goes up to 131 trillion atomic bombs!

“Warp factor” speeds faster than light that are depicted in Star Trek and Star Wars films are physical impossibilities—the speed-of-light is the upper limit for the speed of objects with positive rest mass; and individual photons (which have no mass) cannot travel faster than the speed-of-light. This has been experimentally established in many tests of relativistic energy and momentum and known as the “infinite energy barrier” problem.

\(^{22}\) A Joule is a metric unit of energy with units of kg m\(^2\)/sec\(^2\).

\(^{23}\) We can do the same calculation for accelerating a 1 pound mass to 99.999% the speed-of-light and find we would need about 141,000 atomic bombs of energy to accelerate to the speed-of-light.

\(^{25}\) This is equal to approximately 31 million times the largest hydrogen bomb ever detonated; the Soviet Union’s “Tsar Bomba” rated at about 50 megatons.

\(^{26}\) This is equal to approximately 45 billion times the largest hydrogen bomb ever detonated, the Soviet Union’s “Tsar Bomba”, rated at about 50 megatons.
A Response to the Infinite Energy Problem: Another Hypothesis

Because the Extraterrestrial Hypothesis (ETH) that aliens are visiting earth in real physical spacecraft has pretty much been disproven by (1) the virtually zero probably of finding intelligent biological life on another planet anywhere in the Universe and (2) the physics involved in traveling immense distances over space-time in reasonable amounts of time; another hypothesis has been offered up.

The Interdimensional Hypothesis (IDH) states that “aliens” are visiting the earth from other dimensions. This does overcome the space-time problem of the infinite energy requirement to travel the enormous distances within our galaxy and between galaxies at or faster than the speed-of-light. But this theory is paranormal in nature and therefore spiritual in nature.

IDH also falls in line with the narrative that some “aliens” have “evolved” to a higher spiritual state of consciousness, and do not need or have physical bodies like ours. Their “bodies” and “spacecraft” may therefore also be spiritual and only give us the allusion of being physical.

This agrees with Biblical descriptions of angels, which can manifest themselves in bodies that appear to be physical; and also descriptions of Heaven, which are represented by golden streets, gates of precious jewels, lamp-stands, tables and a throne.

Another example is the resurrected body. After Jesus Christ was raised from the dead His resurrected body could pass through the walls (solid matter) of the upper room:

Then, the same day at evening, being the first day of the week, when the doors were shut where the disciples were assembled, for fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in the midst, and said to them, “Peace be with you”.....And after eight days His disciples were again inside, and Thomas with them. Jesus came, the doors being shut, and stood in the midst, and said, "Peace to you!"—John 20:19-20, 26-27

And yet Jesus invited the disciples to touch His hands with their finger where the nail prints were and reach into His side with a hand where a spear had been thrust. After His resurrection Jesus had a body but one which defied the known laws of physics. Jesus’ resurrected body is a “spiritual body”.

This is how all resurrected bodies are described:

So also is the resurrection of the dead. The body is sown in corruption, it is raised in incorruption. It is sown in dishonor, it is raised in glory. It is sown in weakness, it is raised in power. It is sown a natural body, it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body.—1 Corinthians 15:42-45

And although our physical bodies can die and disintegrate, another body, a supernatural (spiritual) body, awaits those who have put their faith and trust in Jesus Christ:

For we know that if our earthly house, this tent, is destroyed, we have a building from God, a house not made with hands, eternal in Heaven.—2 Corinthians 5:1

What does this all have to do with the UFO phenomena? Everything! Note the following facts about UFO phenomena:

- UFOs have been seen throughout human history
- UFOs can be seen on radar and observed by multiple credible witnesses
- UFOs have the ability to instantly materialize and dematerialize
- UFOs appear to perform aerial maneuvers that defy the laws of physics
- UFOs appear change physical shape in real-time (morphing)
• UFOs can appear to merge into one another
• UFOs can cause electrical disturbances/outages
• UFOs can spook animals, animals are sensitive to them
• Like the UFOs themselves, extraterrestrial entities can pass through walls or suddenly appear in a room
• Extraterrestrial entities make predictions about future global chaos

Between IDH and these characteristics of UFO phenomena one can see that now we are leaving the realm of traditional science and transitioning into the realm of the supernatural science, which ironically most UFOologists don’t believe in!

Nevertheless, the INTERDIMENSIONAL HYPOTHESIS is the most popular view currently held by serious UFOologists and, interestingly, it has religious appeal—it is especially supported by those espousing New Age beliefs and philosophy!

The INTERDIMENSIONAL HYPOTHESIS stipulates that there exists a spiritual dimension and therefore the IDH is probably the closest the secular community will come to truly understanding the UFO phenomena. For example, refer to Jacque Valle’s writings.

However, whereas the IDH postulates that there are multi-dimensions from which the “aliens” could originate from, the Bible teaches us that there is only one-single other dimension.

The Bible indeed teaches us that there is a physical dimension (Universe) and a spiritual dimension (Heaven); which are distinct and separate. This implies that this spiritual world is outside of the physical world, i.e., the spiritual world is distinct and separate from the created Universe. The spiritual world is where God dwells and His angelic messengers originate.

Yet these two dimensions can interact with one another and communication from earth to Heaven (e.g., prayer) and Heaven to earth (e.g., Jesus Christ, angels) can both occur. It’s almost like they are side-by-side or parallel to one another; they appear to be invisible to each other but must somehow co-exist in time and space.

The narrative of the rich man and Lazarus (not the same one who was raised by Jesus) dying and going to Hades is a perfect illustration of this interaction that can occur between the physical and spiritual world. This story is found in Luke 16:19-30.

Insert a discussion on Hades here????

The main points of this narrative are: (1) Consciousness after death, (2) some kind of spiritual bodies that can speak, hear and sense either pain or pleasure, (3) two sides of Hades apparently physically separated by a deep and wide chasm, and (4) no travel or communication from Hades to the real world.

Now I am not suggesting or implying that aliens somehow are coming from Hades, but that they are coming from a supernatural realm similar in nature (e.g., Heaven).

The Bible is full of examples of humans being visited by angelic beings, which can even be mistaken for being human (e.g., Genesis 19:1-17).

In the book of Job we even read that Satan has access to appear before the throne of God (see Job 1:6; 2:1). In the book of Revelation a war is described as taking place in Heaven and Satan and his angels (i.e., demons) no longer can find a place in Heaven and they are cast out of Heaven to the earth (Revelation 12:7-9).

Interestingly, in Ephesians 2:2, Satan is called the “prince of the power of air”, which is where all these UFO sightings are occurring!
The implication is then that demonic entities, posing as “aliens life forms” (ALFs) or “extraterrestrial biological entities” (EBEs) interact between these two dimensions on a regular basis to deceive and destroy those who have been created in the image of God. Note:

Jesus said to them, “If God were your Father, you would love Me, for I proceeded forth and came from God; nor have I come of Myself, but He sent Me....You are of your father the devil, and the desires of your father you want to do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and does not stand in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaks a lie, he speaks from his own resources, for he is a liar and the father of it.”
—John 8:42-45

Then Jesus said to them again, ”Most assuredly, I say to you, I am the door of the sheep. All who ever came before Me are thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not hear them. I am the door. If anyone enters by Me, he will be saved, and will go in and out and find pasture. The thief does not come except to steal, and to kill, and to destroy. I have come that they may have life, and that they may have it more abundantly.”—John 10:7-10

Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil walks about like a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour. Resist him, steadfast in the faith, knowing that the same sufferings are experienced by your brotherhood in the world.—1 Peter 5:8-9

Demonic entities, i.e., fallen angels, are part of this spiritual dimension but can interact, as God the Father, Son and Holy Spirit and angels can interact, with our physical world.

THE “SONS OF GOD” AND THE “NEPHILIM”

At this point it should be noted that “they”, the “aliens”, have been with us since the Garden of Eden. When Satan came to Eve to tempt her with the forbidden fruit with the promise she would be like God—”knowing good and evil”; the “great deception” began. The Bible has referred to these kinds of beings as “demons” for thousands of years!

Many societies have traditions about elves, fairies, dwarves, sprites, kobolds etc, which parallel experiences with modern stories of extraterrestrials. These were small, humanoid, with incredible powers such as invisibility, materializing in the form of an animal, fire or human being. They are often depicted wandering around at night, especially in remote places. They were sometimes said to take an interest in livestock, milking cows or damaging them.

Abduction by fairies is a centuries old tradition in Europe associated with a “changeling”. A “changeling” was believed to be a fairy child that had been left in place of a human child stolen by the fairies. The theme of the swapped child is common in medieval literature.

It is possible that “gray aliens” (or simply, “the grays”) represent a modern version of this story, with the fairies being replaced with extraterrestrials (which is more believable relative to the mindset of many people nowadays)? Based on the evidence, I believe it’s quite possible.

Originally, all the angels, i.e., spiritual beings, were created by God before He created man to serve as His messengers. But one of them, named “Lucifer” was not content with his high created position but said in his heart:

“I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God; I will also sit on the mount of the congregation on the farthest sides of the north; I will ascend above the heights of the clouds, I will be like the Most High.”—Isaiah 14:13-14

27 The Greek word translated “angel” [angelon/angelos] actually means “messenger”.
28 Hence, he has become the basis of many Luciferian (Satanic) cults and belief systems.
But he was “slapped down” for his prideful usurpation of authority and God’s response was:

“Yet you shall be brought down to Sheol, to the lowest depths of the Pit.”—Isaiah 14:15

So Lucifer became known as “Satan” or the “Devil” and figuratively as the “great dragon” (see Revelation 12:9) and he took one-third of the angelic host with him in his rebellion and these beings became known as “fallen angels” or more commonly, “demons”.

And another sign appeared in heaven: behold, a great, fiery red dragon having seven heads and ten horns, and seven diadems on his heads. His tail drew a third of the stars of heaven and threw them to the earth.—Revelation 12:3-4

The Bible talks about several “classes” of angels. There are arch-angels referenced by name, such as Michael (Daniel 10:13; 21; 12:1; Jude 1:9; Revelation 12:7) and Gabriel (Daniel 8:16; 9:21; Luke 1:19, 26). Others are referred to as the seraphim (Isaiah 6:2-6), cherubim (Genesis 3:24; Isaiah 37:16; Ezekiel 10:1-20; 11:22) and the “watchers” (Daniel 4:13, 17, 23).

In the Bible angelic beings are sometimes referred to as the “sons of God” (“ben ha-Elohiym”) and, along with Satan, described as coming to present themselves before the LORD in Heaven (see Job 1:6; 2:1) and, those who did not rebel, as worshipping God in Heaven at the beginning of Creation (see Job 38:7).

Now there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and Satan also came among them......Again there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and Satan came also among them to present himself before the Lord.—Job 1:6; 2:1

Notice, as amazing, and even shocking, as it may seem, Satan, along with the other “sons of God”, also still has access to God’s throne in Heaven.

However, one day he will be cast out of Heaven and down to earth after he and his demons war with God and His angels and God and His angels win the war {Revelation 12:7-9}).

Evidently, the “sons of God” in Job 1:6; 2:1 are referring to a created order of angelic beings!

Astonishingly and in menacing fashion, some of them intruded upon the sanctity of human sexual relations.

As impossible as might seem, and as difficult it may be to grasp in our modern, sophisticated society, in Genesis 6:4 some of those in the class of angels referred to as “the sons of God” are mentioned in the context of producing offspring that are described as “giants” [Heb. Nephilim] meaning “a feller”; i.e., one who knocks down, a bully or tyrant].

29 “Sheol” is Hebrew word for the place where the spirits of those who have rejected God go when they die. The Greek equivalent is known as Hades. See Luke 16:19-31 and Revelation 20:11-15.

30 “Sheol” is Hebrew word for the place where the spirits of those who have rejected God go when they die. The Greek equivalent is known as Hades. See Luke 16:19-31 and Revelation 20:11-15.

31 The “stars” in this verse are metaphorically referring to angelic beings. See for example Isa.14:13; Dan. 8:10; Rev. 1:20.

32 In the book of Daniel there is a class or order of angelic beings referred to as “the watchers” who are “holy ones”. See Dan. 4:17. In the context of its usage in Daniel, a ‘watcher’ is probably a special class of angelic being who God uses to carry out His will on earth. The Book of Daniel informs us that there are many different classes of angels, all accomplishing God’s special purposes on earth. There are also “fallen angels” which work through human leaders to try and thwart the purposes of the Lord {ref. Dan. 10:13} much like the “sons of God” mentioned here in Job. Nebuchadnezzar recognized this distinction and understood the supernatural aspect of these beings {see Dan. 3:25}.

33 The Nephilim are considered by many to be giant demigods, the unnatural offspring of the “daughters of men” (mortal women) in some kind of cohabitation with the “sons of God” (angels; cf. Gen 6:1-4). This utterly unnatural union, violating God’s created order of being, was such a shocking abnormality and produced such a depraved and sinful society that it necessitated the worldwide judgment of the Flood.
Here is the reference:

Now it came to pass, when men began to multiply on the face of the earth, and daughters were born to them, that the sons of God saw the daughters of men, that they were beautiful; and they took wives for themselves of all whom they chose. And the LORD said, "My Spirit shall not strive with man forever, for he is indeed flesh; yet his days shall be one hundred and twenty years". There were giants on the earth in those days and also afterward, when the sons of God came in to the daughters of men and they bore children to them. Those were the mighty men who were of old, men of renown. Then the LORD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every intent of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. And the LORD was sorry that He had made man on the earth, and He was grieved in His heart.— Gen. 6:1-6

Several points are to be made33.

First, at the beginning of the multiplication of mankind on earth, some of the sons of God had physical relations with the daughters of men [“took wives for themselves”] causing them to bear "giants", “mighty men who were of old, men of renown”. This was a heinous crime for which these angels were imprisoned by God (see Jude 1:6-7; 2 Peter 2:4-6).

Is it possible that these are actually the same as the “gray aliens” 46% of the people who have close encounters of the 3rd kind see? I believe it is since demonic entities have the power to pose as (i.e., change into) the likeness of what people expect to see. New Agers would refer to this as “shape-shifting”, like those dealing in the occult34 also claim to have the power to do.

Second, some believe these men became demigods because they had super-human strength and stories of their exploits may have been handed down through the ages by oral tradition starting with Noah’s family. These stories may have eventually been the inspiration for the legends and exploits of the gods in ancient civilizations and later the Greek and Roman pantheons.

But note that they would not be “aliens” or “extraterrestrials” in the conventional sense.

And third, they would all have been destroyed in the Flood35.

Note that this interpretation is supported by passages in the New Testament.

Another view of the Nephilim is that they were particularly violent group of men [the name comes from a root word meaning “to fall,” i.e., on other people; strong (“mighty”), and infamous (“men of renown”)] and refer to a group of people who predated the marriages of v.2. This viewpoint is used in reference to intermarriage unions of the godly line of Seth (described in Gen. 4:25-5:32) with the ungodly line of Cain (Gen. 4:1-24). However, this viewpoint ignores the fact that the “sons of God” are clearly angelic beings who have heavenly access to God which no mortal man can have. This view also contradicts the fact that the “sons of God” did something evil which presumably the descendents of the godly line of Seth would not do.

There is another interpretation that the “sons of God” are the offspring of the Godly seed through the line of Seth and the “daughters of men” are the offspring of the ungodly seed of Cain. The idea being that the Godly and ungodly lines intermarried to produce a corrupt and evil race of giants. However, the two major problems with this explanation are (1) the “sons of God” described in Job are definitely angelic beings and not human and (2) the line of Seth would be the cause of the resulting evil which is self-contradictory.

Like the shamans belonging to American Indian tribes such as the Navaho.

Although the word “Nephilim” is also mentioned in Num. 13:33 where they are described as people of “great size” and made the Israelites look like “grasshoppers” in comparison. However, these “giants” cannot be the same as the Nephilim in Gen. 6:4 since the former were all destroyed in the Flood. In that case the word is simply being used in referring to their gigantic size. Some believe that Goliath and his three brothers were of these “giants”.

33 There is another interpretation that the “sons of God” are the offspring of the Godly seed through the line of Seth and the “daughters of men” are the offspring of the ungodly seed of Cain. The idea being that the Godly and ungodly lines intermarried to produce a corrupt and evil race of giants. However, the two major problems with this explanation are (1) the “sons of God” described in Job are definitely angelic beings and not human and (2) the line of Seth would be the cause of the resulting evil which is self-contradictory.

34 Although the word “Nephilim” is also mentioned in Num. 13:33 where they are described as people of “great size” and made the Israelites look like “grasshoppers” in comparison. However, these “giants” cannot be the same as the Nephilim in Gen. 6:4 since the former were all destroyed in the Flood. 35 Like the shamans belonging to American Indian tribes such as the Navaho.
“And the angels who did not keep their proper domain, but left their own abode, He has reserved in everlasting chains under darkness for the judgment of the great day; as Sodom and Gomorrah, and the cities around them in a similar manner to these, having given themselves over to sexual immorality and gone after strange flesh, are set forth as an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire.”—Jude 1:6-7

Note that these angels that “did not keep their proper domain” but left their special dwelling place. They are described in association with Sodom and Gomorrah, specifically in the context of engaging in “sexual immorality” and having “gone after strange [i.e., different] flesh”.

This could very well be a reference to the “sons of God” that did the same thing in Genesis 6:1-4 who came to earth to engage in a perverted and unnatural union [“sexual immorality”] with human women.

If so, they produced a generation of men so wicked and evil that God had to destroy mankind by destroying the earth and incarcerated these particular fallen angels “in everlasting chains under darkness”.

Peter also gives us additional insight as to what

“For if God did not spare the angels who sinned, but cast them down to Tartaros and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved for judgment; and did not spare the ancient world, but saved Noah, one of eight people, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood on the world of the ungodly; and turning the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes, condemned them to destruction, making them an example to those who afterward would live ungodly.”—2 Pet. 2:4-6

Here we see the context of (1) the “angels who sinned” were cast down to a place called TARTAROS to be incarcerated in chains to await future judgment of the LAKE OF FIRE burning with brimstone, (2) the destruction of the ancient world by the Flood, (3) the saving of Noah and his family and (4) the destruction of the wicked, sexually immoral cities of Sodom and Gomorrah.

In this passage the “angels that sinned” are again mentioned in association with Sodom and Gomorrah, which represent ungodliness, sexual immorality and perversion. These angels would then be the same as those that “did not keep their proper domain, but left their own abode” in Jude 1:6 to presumably have illicit physical relations with human women.

Thus, there is a strong Biblical case that there was a class of angelic being called “the sons of God” that left their particular position in Heaven and either (1) had the ability to assume human masculine form or (2) spiritually possessed men for the purpose of having physical relations with human women [“took wives for themselves of all whom they chose”] which they found attractive and irresistible.

Finally, it should be noted that most of the Jewish rabbinical writers, the translators of the Septuagint, as well as the oldest of the church fathers, held this second explanation.

Men such as the archaeologist and theologian Merrill F. Unger and the authors of the Wycliffe Bible Commentary also support this explanation.

Many contemporary prominent and respected commentators such as Roy B. Zuck and Jon Courson also hold to this interpretation.

36 Tartaros: This is the only place this Greek word is used in the New Testament. Evidently it’s referring to the deepest and darkest part of Hades, which itself will one day be cast into the Lake of Fire (Rev. 20:14).
This also explains why alien abduction stories include claims of sexual experimentation.

The only serious scriptural objection to this explanation is that when Jesus was asked whose wife the woman who had seven successive husbands would be after she died, Jesus responded by saying:

“You are mistaken, not knowing the Scriptures nor the power of God. For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels of God in heaven.”—Matthew 22:29-31

This seems to indicate that because of the way angels are created they cannot engage in physical sexual activity like humans. Therefore, Jesus was simply stating the obvious: that there will be no marital relationships in Heaven which fits the context of the question [i.e., “whose wife of the seven will she be”].

The solution to this apparent contradiction is that Jesus may have been referring specifically to angelic inter-relationships in Heaven and not on earth. This is why it was such serious sin when some of the angels [demonic spirits] did not keep their proper domain, but left their own abode; that is, Heaven [Jude 1:6]

Why? Because on earth it may be possible for them to have some kind of illicit relations with human women. They are now “delivered.....in everlasting chains under darkness.....reserved.....for the judgment of the great day” in Tartaros [Jude 1:7; 2 Pet. 2:4].

Note also that Jesus’ statement would not apply to demonic [i.e., “fallen angel”] possession of someone.

It is interesting to note that Ezekiel 28:11-19 and Daniel 10:13 indicate that great kings of the earth have supernatural “princes” ruling behind them—their power is in reality demonic. We are told that the man who is anti-Christ will be possessed by Satan himself as he is given “his power, his throne, and great authority” (Revelation 13:2).

The result of such a union between man and demonic entity would be a major change in the offspring. Possibly they would have superior physical strength and an elevated propensity for evil leading to all-consuming desire for spiritual wickedness. It would have led to unbridled lawlessness, whole-sale disobedience of God’s moral laws, which is what happened in Noah’s day.

It is enlightening to compare the escalation of evil in our own day with the evil of Noah’s day. Looking around in our society today it’s not hard to imagine that something like this may be happening again.

The Bible tells us that a mystery of lawlessness (which is sin; 1 John 3:4) is at work in the world and that in the “last days” a world leader will arise who is anti-Christ and given demonic power:

For the mystery of lawlessness is already at work; only He who now restrains will do so until He is taken out of the way. And then the lawless one will be revealed: whom the Lord will consume with the breath of His mouth and destroy with the brightness of His coming. The coming of the lawless one is according to the working of Satan, with all power, signs, and lying wonders, and with all unrighteous deception among those who perish, because they did not receive the love of the truth, that they might be saved. And for this reason God will send them strong delusion; that they should believe the lie; that they all may be condemned who did not believe the truth but had pleasure in unrighteousness.

—2 Thessalonians 2:7-12
This explains the glorification of evil in every facet of our society; books, movies, TV shows\textsuperscript{37} video games, including social media where young adults are “sexting” pictures of themselves.

And every-day commercials have become shamelessly provocative and promote and “glamorize” immoral behavior.

Even our language is reflecting the perversion of “good and evil” so that words like “bad” or “sick” refer to something that would normally have been called simply “good”, “neat” or “cool”.

Not satisfied with simply making a social statement, young people are wearing T-shirts that have words like “Disobey” to represent an attitude of lawlessness and anarchy, which ultimately is a rejection of divine authority and at its core Satanic.

Another interesting parallel occurs between demonic possession spoken of in the Bible and science fiction themes where humans are taken over by an alien “presence”, either directly or through a mechanical device, such as in the films “Invasion of the Body Snatchers” (1956, 1978) and “Invaders from Mars” (1953, 1986).

All this perhaps to prepare the way for the world-wide acceptance of the anti-Christ, the “\textit{man of sin}”, and the “\textit{son of perdition}”, who will be Satanically energized (Revelation 13:2). Indeed, the Bible warns us that in the last days there will even be a “falling away”, or apostasy, within the Christian community:

\begin{quote}
Let no one deceive you by any means; for that Day will not come unless the falling away comes first, and the man of sin is revealed, the son of perdition, who opposes and exalts himself above all that is called God or that is worshiped, so that he sits as God in the temple of God, showing himself that he is God.—\textit{2 Thessalonians 2:3-4}
\end{quote}

In the last days people will receive the mark of the anti-Christ, a demonically controlled world-leader. He will have the power of life-and death because without his mark inscribed on their hand or forehead a person will not be able to buy or sell anything:

\begin{quote}
He causes all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and slave, to receive a mark on their right hand or on their foreheads, and that no one may buy or sell except one who has the mark or the name of the beast, or the number of his name.—\textit{Revelation 13:16-17}
\end{quote}

The Bible describes the general condition of society in the last days:

\begin{quote}
But know this, that in the last days perilous times will come: For men will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, unloving, unforgiving, slanderers, without self-control, brutal, despisers of good, traitors, headstrong, haughty, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God, having a form of godliness but denying its power. And from such people turn away!—\textit{2 Timothy 3:1-6}

\textbf{WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?}

Considering the physics\textsuperscript{38} of deep-space travel it’s highly unlikely that we’re being visited by aliens from somewhere else in our own galaxy, let alone from some other galaxy! “Aliens” are not visiting us from outer-space—as we have demonstrated, that is a physical impossibility.

The physical limitations and constraints associated with traveling the immense distances required by inter-stellar space travel argues against physical beings visiting us from other planets.

\textsuperscript{38} Inter-stellar travel times and the relativistic kinetic energy constraint.
There will be no alien “saviors” to help us out of the problems of our own making because of willful disobedience against God.

Yet there is some validity to people claiming to have seen, been visited by or even abducted by “aliens”. But as we have conclusively shown the phenomena associated with UFOs, including UFOonauts, do not obey the natural laws of physics.

Therefore, they must originate and operate from another source; a supernatural source—a spiritual source. Note that according to the Bible, there is a spiritual realm that coexists with our physical realm that could be considered as another dimension.

This is actually why popular books, TV programs and films about the subject of UFOs and abductions like the X-Files always leave the viewer with more questions than answers—nothing is really ever explained.

There is never really a satisfactory explanation for what’s happening because there can never be any “closure” to understanding UFO phenomena by using conventional assumptions and sticking to the conventional UFO narrative.

The protagonists of these kinds of stories can never really get “a handle” on what’s going on and routinely follow-up on clues that lead to nowhere.

Unless one comes to grips with a supernatural, a spiritual, explanation for UFO phenomena, including the abductions, the questions will always remain unanswered, frustration and confusion will be the norm.

Until it is acknowledged that demonic entities are posing as “alien beings” to deceive and exploit humankind to lead them into destruction nothing will “add-up”. Nothing will really make any sense.

The Bible, the Word of God, is the only resource that clearly explains UFO phenomena and alien abductions and gives us a picture of what’s going on.

For example, we are told in Eph. 6:12-13 that “We do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this age, against spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places.”

We are also told that

Therefore humble yourselves under the mighty hand of God, that He may exalt you in due time, casting all your care upon Him, for He cares for you. Be sober; be vigilant; because your adversary the devil walks about like a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour. Resist him, steadfast in the faith, knowing that the same sufferings are experienced by your brotherhood in the world.—1 Peter 5:6-9

This passage of scripture is very important for several reasons:

(1) The context of measure of Satan’s success on believers is in direct proportion to their pride. Christians are to humble themselves before God and abide in Him by putting all their trust in His ability to care for them.

(2) Satan is a Christian’s adversary—he is against believers. He is both the “accuser of the saints” and “our adversary”. He is also the “father of lies” and a “murderer from the beginning” (John 8:44; Rev. 12:10; ref. Gen. 3:1, 4-5; 4:6-8).

(3) Satan is actually like a “roaring lion, roaming about, seeking whom he might devour”.

Believers are to be pro-active (sober and vigilant) in resisting the Devil through the power of the Holy Spirit; consciously resisting him by faith. They will not allow their sufferings to discourage them through self-pity.

As Satan is “going to and fro on the earth, and from walking back and forth on it” (Job 1:7; 2:2) he is also looking for someone to attack and devour!

Evidently one of the primary ways Satan is “devouring” people is by deceiving and destroying people though UFO cults and the conventional UFO narrative.

Today, believers gain victory over the “evil one”, Satan, the Devil, and his demonic host by:

And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony, and they did not love their lives to the death. —Revelation 12:11

Therefore submit to God. Resist the devil and he will flee from you. —James 4:7

You are of God, little children, and have overcome them, because He who is in you is greater than he who is in the world. —1 John 4:4

For whatever is born of God overcomes the world. And this is the victory that has overcome the world—our faith. Who is he who overcomes the world, but he who believes that Jesus is the Son of God? —1 John 5:4-5

THIS IS WHY CHRISTIANS ARE IMMUNE TO “ALIEN ABDUCTIONS”!

What must one do to be saved and become a Christian—a follower of Christ?

First recognize that only the God who created us has the power and authority to save us. Jesus Christ said:

“That whoever believes in Him should not perish but have eternal life. For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life.” —John 3:15-16

The gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord. —Romans 6:23

Acknowledge/confess that all have sinned, that includes you and me:

For all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God. —Romans 3:23

For the wages of sin is death. —Romans 6:23

Acknowledge that only the death and shed blood of Jesus Christ can save you:

Being justified freely by His grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus. —Romans 3:24

Nor is there salvation in any other, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved. —Acts 4:12

Confess the Jesus Christ as Lord and believe He was raised from the dead:

That if you confess with your mouth the Lord Jesus and believe in your heart that God has raised Him from the dead, you will be saved. For with the heart one believes unto righteousness, and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation. For the Scripture says, “Whoever believes on Him will not be put to shame.” For there is no distinction between Jew and Greek, for the same Lord over all is rich to all who call upon Him. For “whoever calls on the name of the Lord shall be saved.” —Romans 10:9-13

39 Those who are involved with UFO phenomena, such as on-going research, visitations and abductions, have a rate of suicide much higher than the general public.

40 UFO cults such a Heaven’s Gates and the Raëlians.
There is only one Savior and that is the Lord Jesus Christ. He is the only one who can save a person from eternal punishment and ultimately bring peace and rest to a weary soul. He is called the “peace of Peace” (Isaiah 9:6) because it will be Jesus Christ, not aliens, who will bring peace to this world.

He will return to earth one day to establish His kingdom and He will reign with a rod of iron.

Now I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse. And He who sat on him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness He judges and makes war. His eyes were like a flame of fire, and on His head were many crowns. He had a name written that no one knew except Himself. He was clothed with a robe dipped in blood, and His name is called The Word of God. And the armies in heaven, clothed in fine linen, white and clean, followed Him on white horses. Now out of His mouth goes a sharp sword, that with it He should strike the nations. And He Himself will rule them with a rod of iron. He Himself treads the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God. And He has on His robe and on His thigh a name written: KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS.
—Revelation 19:11-16

The last book of the Bible appropriately closes with these words:

He who testifies to these things says, “Surely I am coming quickly”. Amen. Even so, come, Lord Jesus! The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.—Revelation 22:20-21

SUMMARY: Classical “UFO phenomenon” (strange objects flying through the air, supposed “extraterrestrial” contacts, alien visitations and abductions, etc.) are inherently supernatural manifestations which are demonic in nature. Note that this does not include divinely sanctioned appearances of angels as found in the Biblical record (e.g., Gabriel, Michael, the angel of the LORD, etc.)
