

GLOBAL MISSION WEEKEND

by Pastor Reg

What does the local church have to do with missions?

The answer might seem obvious - "a lot!" But, what does "a lot" mean, specifically, in this age, at this moment, for us in the LCCC Family?

These are the questions which will be answered in our annual Global Missions Weekend this weekend!

Each year, LCCC sets aside one BIG weekend to celebrate what God has done, and see a vision for what God will do, in and through our church, towards His unstoppable, unfolding mission.

Last year's missions weekend was remarkable, as we celebrated that LCCC was currently sending more new home-grown members into the mission field than in the previous 30 years combined! If you don't remember all the details, click the Global Missions image on the right to watch the one minute PowerPoint presentation from last year. (There's no sound, so turn up your own music and enjoy!)

This year, the celebration and vision continues. Several LCCC missionaries will join us. We will eat together, worship together, celebrate together, and unify around our roles in God's great mission. Here's what to expect:

First, everyone come to the all-church breakfast, Saturday morning, which includes: audio/visual presentations from missionary Marlene Etter; trip reports from David & Kelli

Pritchard and the Brian & Lura Anderson/Chet Ellis Teams; and an update from our next-to-be-sent missionaries, Nate & Jana Duriga (as well as the amazing breakfast-making talent of Chuck Mathews!)

Then, the weekend services will include a global sense of worship, preaching, and a panel of several guest missionaries, including: Bobby Arkills, Marv Cole, Marlene Etter, Mike Olson, and Nate and Jana Duriga -- all to discover anew what we, the local church, have to do with global missions.

See you there!

SABBATICAL

My sermon last weekend touched on the biblical concept of Sabbath. This jogged me to remind you to be praying for Pastor Mark Wilkening and his family. They are enjoying a well-deserved sabbatical for the month of May. Some of it is family time and some of it is for study and ministry growth. Since it is ultimately in Jesus that we find true rest and refreshment, will you please join me in praying for Mark, Kelsey, and the family to be renewed and revitalized during their time away? Thank you so much!

I love you!

Pastor Jim
