Remembrance and Renewal

We are looking forward to celebrating 175 years on Sunday. I've looked at lots of pictures and heard lots of testimonies about ministries, missions, opportunities, and God's hand of blessings on Lancaster Baptist. It is nice to be able to look back in remembrance and thankfulness. Just this week, Arber Della Meadows said, "make sure you serve the Lord while you are able." We talked about the brevity of life. It was a good reminder to take advantage of our health, life, and the opportunities the Lord puts before us. I hope you are making plans to join us on Sunday in this time of celebration.

As I think about God's past faithfulness, it seems like God is at work in the present. We've been talking about being a community of grace and it seems like God has been giving us some opportunities to show grace to our community. This Fall there will be some homeschool classes and possibly a daycare at the church. We've been contacted about other ministries that need a place to operate. We've been helping with the Place of Hope in trying to bring together some ministries in our community. I pray the Lord will give us more and more opportunities to impact our community with the Gospel.

Over the past 25 years, LBC has been able to go to various places around the world for the sake of Christ. I pray the Lord allows us to go to even more places in the years to come. We have a team leaving for Alaska this week. I hope you will pray for them and the opportunities they will have to reach out to the children and families in the parks of Alaska. While many of us are celebrating God's past faithfulness to LBC, this team will be fulfilling the mission of the church in Alaska. While we are celebrating God's work in the church, the Chervens will be in Haiti doing the work of the church.

So, let's remember all that God has done in and through our church and let's ask Him to do even more in the next 25 years for the glory of His great name. May God send revival to LBC!
