LIFE LINES

Pursuing the Promise

I recently came to church on a Tuesday evening in which the Body of Christ was touching our community in many ways. With a team of caring volunteers, I helped serve meals prepared by Ricky Messick to people in need through the Christ Community Cafe. At the very same time, broken hearts were being mended at our Grief Support Group, Alcoholics Anonymous was offering hope and freedom in the educational annex, and our Trustees were working on maximizing our facilities to be a most effective tool for sharing the love of Christ.

The Monday before, I learned that our new tutoring partnership with Coosada Elementary School had prevented at least two children from failing a grade last school year. That evening, nearly a dozen people gathered at our new Anxiety Support Group at the same time the Friendship Sunday School Class shared a meal, laughter, prayer, and fellowship.

These are just a snapshot of highlights of two evenings of life-transforming ministry. They do not begin to describe the Bible Studies, hospital visits, phone calls, and prayer groups on those same two days.

We have just begun a Stewardship campaign, one that is not about money. It's about each and every member of this family praying, giving, and laboring so that God's dream for our church's ministry continues to grow in its eternal impact. Please open your heart to hear from God what your part will be, and pray that all of us will joyfully join in this great mission.

My prayer is that every single day of 2015 will be a day that overwhelms us with its eternal consequence, that we will each will be packed with signs of the Spirit of God renewing our world through His love work through us.

Blessings,
Nathan
