FINDING NEW LIFE

by Amanda Iman, Mizzou BSU Associate Campus Minister

There's a crisp chill in the air as a group of students make their way from a classroom on a fall afternoon. They head just a short distance away to a coffee shop—their small, little oasis nestled in the middle of campus. Just inside the doors, they find warmth that flows over their body and spirit. At one of the tables, a residence hall RA is chatting away with some residents discussing how they can build community among their floor. At another table, a professor is looking over some notes before teaching his evening class. The group of students find a corner booth to settle into, order their coffee, cappuccinos and hot chocolates, and start studying for an upcoming Bio-Chemistry test.

For some, like BSU Director Jerry Carmichael, this type of ministry has only been a dream. But through the generosity of some Columbia locals, this dream is quickly becoming a reality.

When The Coffee Ground, a local Columbia coffee shop closed its doors last October, owner Jenn Myles did not want that to be the end of their three-year venture.

"My husband and I are also interested in ministry and how our leftover coffee equipment could be used, that we could somehow use this to glorify God," Myles said.

MOVING FORWARD

The summer is a great time to reflect on the year that we have just left behind and prepare for the next chapter that God has waiting for us. One of the questions on our mind for some time has been this: How do we support and foster a ministry that grows in a miraculous way, reaching students from every corner of the campus?

If we look back at Acts 1 & 2, we see that the phenomenal growth of the Church did not just start on it's own. It began with two things: 1) a recognition that they needed to wait in obedience to Christ; and 2) a moving forward by the power of the Spirit.

Jesus has given us all a huge commission. "You will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, Judea and the uttermost parts of the world." That's what the Church became with the huge movement of God's Spirit. But how did it start? First, they prayed. A small group of disciples wanting to move forward in obedience to Christ joined in prayer. "They all joined together constantly in prayer, along with the women and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with his brothers." (Acts 1:14, NIV)

Someone once said that all great movements of God can be traced back to a praying figure. How true! The BSU wouldn't be where it is today if it weren't for students, churches, alumni, and friends praying and yearning for God to move on this campus.

The disciples prepared in unity. They were ready to move forward and their prayer was preparation for what Jesus had promised would come. But, if we wait, we must be ready to move.

This is where I believe that we are right now. For the last few years, we have been praying and waiting for God to respond in a big way, knowing that we can only continue with His help and guidance. The vision of a coffee shop in our front lounge began years ago. It's inception was a result of our desire to maximize our building resources and to enhance relational ministry opportunities. We had our property rezoned in 2006 to accommodate the future possibility. Then we waited until June of 2009 when we were approached and offered the equipment, furnishings, supplies, and assistance that were essential to move forward with the vision.

Vida Coffee Co. is the tangible result of a vision for ministry that started 8 years ago! (If you haven't already, make sure you read the full article about this new and exciting area of the Mizzou BSU.) There is no doubt in our minds that the Spirit of God is leading us on this venture.

Just as the disciples prepared in unity, they also moved forward and witnessed in unity by the power of the Spirit. And the Lord added to their number daily. It is only with this kind of faith in the power of God that we are moved. There's no turning back, only following God's path for us.

Will you join us? Join us in constant prayer for this new direction for the BSU. May Vida bring sustainability to our ministry. May we be a welcoming door and a beacon of hope to Mizzou and its students. May we continue to move forward and carry out God's commission to us on this campus.

In His,

Jerry Carmichael
Mizzou BSU Director

NEW TO MIZZOU

by Rachael Douglas, Associate Campus Minister

Hi. My name is Rachael Douglas. Many of you do not know who I am. I was hired as an Associate Campus Minister in June and have been at the BSU ever since. I graduated from Truman State University in May of 2010 with a degree in Exercise Science, and although my degree is much different than campus ministry, I believe the Lord has called me to work in this collegiate setting and specifically the BSU.

A lot of my summer was spent adjusting to the BSU and filling in doing odd jobs as there was much transition occurring. I attended Summer Welcome to meet freshman and transfer students, telling them about the BSU and all that we have going on here. I also spent time contacting the new students through email and Facebook in order to get them plugged in with the BSU as quickly as possible, even before they started school. A new person myself, I was easily able to relate to their journey to build a new home at Mizzou and the importance of making personal connections.

This summer was a great time of getting adjusted to life in Columbia and at the BSU. It was been a great opportunity getting to give fresh, new perspective to people here, but in return I have learned so much about ministry and the mission of the BSU. This experience is priceless.

STUDENT TESTIMONY | PLUGGED IN

by Kaylin Becker, Sophomore

I was a freshman at Mizzou last year, and was scared to death. I did not want to move 4 hours away and leave my friends and family at home.

I came to MU knowing some people and that helped, but I still wanted to make new friends and was not sure how to go about doing that. I ended up talking some friends into going with me to "New2MU," which is an event the BSU holds at the beginning of each year to bring in new people. I met many members of the BSU and had a great time!

After that I decided to continue to get involved. I went to Escape (BSU fall retreat) at the beginning of first semester, and joined a Freshman Family Group (FFG) where I made some great friends.

Second semester I was involved in a bible study and also got lured in to joining the BSU band. Getting involved with the BSU played a huge part in helping me have a great first year of college. I've grown immensely in my faith and have made some great friends that I know will last a lifetime!

Stephanie Carey, Stephanie Krause and Kaylin Becker enjoy a BSU evening at RealLife.

A BSU SUMMER | TRANSITION, ORGANIZATION & CONSTRUCTION

by David Kissinger, Campus Ministry Intern

People often make the mistake of thinking that work stops at the BSU when the semester ends. However, summers are a crazy time of transition, organization, and construction. Anyone who has stopped by for a visit between May and August knows that there is often a maze of paint cans, scaffolding, and assorted cleaning supplies. My hope is to give you a quick insight into the flurry of activity that is a BSU summer.

One of the first signs of summer is people leaving. Students empty their dorm rooms throughout finals week and before you know it Columbia becomes a relatively quiet town. The quiet allows for us to finally pause, take a look at the school year that we just left behind, and start to dream for the year ahead.

Every year, one group of students graduates and a few months later a new group of students starts their collegiate careers. Additionally, the BSU's staff changes at least every couple of years. This year two great staff members (Ashley Williams and Stormie Dorrell) transitioned out of their positions as Associate Campus Ministers, while Rachael Douglas and I began our time as full-time BSU staff.

Rachael and I soon found out that much time is spent organizing and rearranging within the ministry. Summer is a great time to go through our storages closets and offices. Try as we might, college students never seem to put something back where they found it, and it doesn't take us long to realize just how our own mothers must have felt when we did the same thing at home. We attempt to take inventory of all our supplies, rearrange things in such a way that they can be easily utilized, and get rid of things that no longer serve their purpose. This can be a long and arduous task. Some things are trash, other things need to be sold, and others need to be fixed.

This summer, not only did we do this with our supplies but with our programming as well. We looked at all the events we were doing as a ministry and did some reorganizing. We eliminated many events that were no longer serving their purpose, reorganized our teams so that they could be better utilized, and fixed some communication issues within our ministry.

Along with all the reorganizing, we also did quite a bit of construction over the summer. The coffee shop had construction crews in and out of the building all summer. It was exciting to see the southwest corner of our building transform from a rarely used lobby area into a legitimate coffee shop. This addition will truly allow us to construct yet another avenue of ministry on the Mizzou campus. We also spent much time at Mizzou's Summer Welcome meeting new students and beginning to construct relationships.

Summers are a great time to get ourselves organized from the past year and prepare for the next. However, by about the middle of June we get anxious for students to return. We are looking forward to this next year and all the craziness it is sure to have in store. We won't have to wait long though, because with a quick blink of the eyes, the summer has somehow passed and August has rolled around. Leadership teams come back to Columbia, get geared up for the months ahead, and dive into their lives as college students again.

Here, we are, ready for another school year. Let's get this started!

A SERVANTS HEART...

FINDING NEW LIFE

After Mizzou's Christian Campus House turned down the opportunity to open their own coffee shop, CCH and one of Myles' former employees looked to the BSU. Seeing this as an chance to both generate funds for the ministry and to create a space for meaningful relationships to develop, the BSU Board of Directors and staff agreed in June 2009 that this opportunity could be profitable in more than one way.

"In the heart of Mizzou, for the hearts of Mizzou." This is a phrase that captures the essence of what Mizzou BSU Ministries is all about.

Situated in the heart of Mizzou's 1,372-acre campus, BSU Ministry for Tomorrow's Leaders currently owns the only remaining public property still present on the University campus. Our building located on 812 Hitt St. provides the ministry a unique opportunity to interface with the hundreds of students that walk down our sidewalk each day.

For many years, the Mizzou BSU has had a strong and effective ministry. It has been a ministry that leaves the lives of college students changed forever. But it is critical that we seek to leverage all the resources with which God has blessed us to most effectively reach the hearts and souls of collegiates today. This would include our building, and its location in the center of campus.

"JESUS DIDN'T JUST HANG OUT AT THE SYNAGOGUE. HE HUNG OUT AT THE WELLS. WELLS WERE MORE THAN JUST A PLACE TO DRAW WATER. THEY WERE NATURAL GATHERING PLACES IN ANCIENT CULTURE. TODAY, COFFEESHOPS ARE POSTMODERN WELLS."

—MARK BATTERSON, lead pastor of National Community Church which owns and operates Ebenezers, the largest coffeehouse on Capitol Hill

Vida Coffee Co. is not only an investment into the long-term financial stability of the Mizzou BSU Ministry, but also an investment into the souls of future Mizzou students. As a new phase of ministry is being ushered in, we are bubbling with renewal and excitement as we dream of the endless potential and possibilities the Lord has in store for Vida Coffee Co. and Mizzou BSU Ministry.

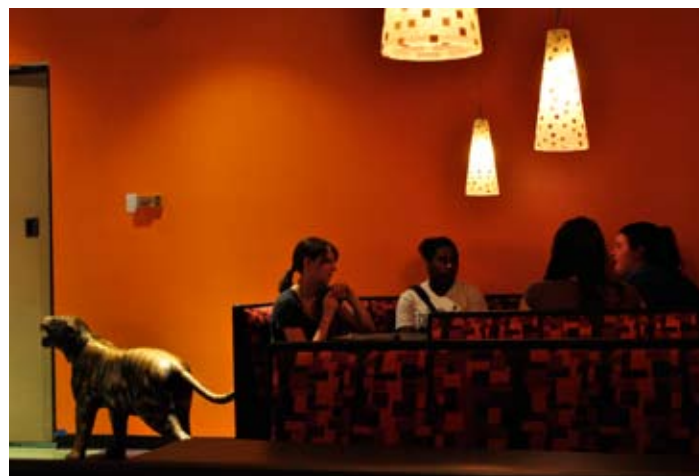

Since the initial equipment donation, many people have shared with us in this vision. The equipment alone could not make Vida a reality. We also received a long list of other goods and services either fully donated or recieved at reduced prices.

Eight12 was full of activity this summer as construction crews took over the rarely used lobby and transformed it into a space befitting Vida. The drop ceiling was removed to create an open feeling that sets it apart from the rest of the building. BSU students and staff then worked to paint the walls and ceiling. BSU alum and Board Member, Lori Pewitt designed the interior and furnishings. A grueling summer of vision, hard work, and dedication have been put into seeing Vida become a successful coffee shop and ministry tool.

"Vida," which means "life" in Spanish, has opened its doors to the campus. October will mark its first

With a vision to create a place where Christ and the campus community can cross paths, the building at 812 Hitt St. now houses both Mizzou BSU and Vida Coffee Co.

QUARTER-A-DAY

A Small Step Towards Big Impact

Right now, the Mizzou BSU is kicking off a campaign that every person filled with the compassion of Christ should get behind. It's called "A Quarter a Day!" This is a commitment to set aside 25¢ everyday for a year and give it to the BSU so that the influence of this ministry continue on the campus for years to come.

1 person giving a quarter a day for 365 days = $91.25

50 students + 200 alumni giving a quarter a day for 365 days = $22,812.50

When caring and compassionate people come together by the 100s and even 1000s, it can multiple like 2 small fish and 5 loaves of bread to impact lives that will continue to do so all around the world and in every walk of life.

If you have never considered giving to the Mizzou BSU, I would like to make this challenge you today. Whether you are a student struggling to get by or an alumni making 6 figures every year, when you empty your pockets at the end of the day, set aside a quarter for the BSU, to impact the life of a Mizzou student forever.

TRIVIA NIGHT
