

CALVARY LIFE CENTER

Cotati, California
Pastor Barry Claborn

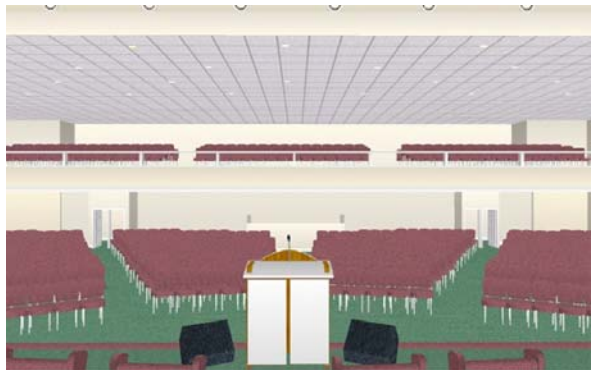

Ωmega Church Consultants, Inc.
Project Architect

Calvary Life Center Cotati, CA

Omega is providing consulting and architectural design services to this established congregation north of San Francisco. The 23,500 s.f. design will be developed in three phases of construction as the congregation grows. The design will ultimately accommodate 800 for worship and will include administrative, classroom, and day care areas, as well as evangelist quarters, a full commercial kitchen, and drama prep rooms.

The images on this page are screen shots from a 3-D computer model created by Omega that provides a full-motion virtual walk-around tour of the exterior of the proposed facility. Other exterior architectural details, styles, colors and materials were tried and reviewed before arriving at the current model. Omega created a multimedia presentation and took the congregation on a virtual tour in order for them to visualize their proposed new worship facility. Omega is currently rendering the interior in 3-D for similar use by this congregation as we finalize the architectural drawings.

"A wise man once said, 'Dream no small dreams for they stir not the hearts of men.'

At Calvary Life Center North Bay the challenge was not a lack of great dreams but knowing how to realize them. As we left the cozy confines of an old and outgrown facility, and entered an interim environment, we dreamed of a new three-phase complex consisting of a 1000 seat auditorium, first-rate educational facilities, a spacious family life center, and recreational fields. To realize those dreams however, we needed someone like the burdened and professional staff at Omega Church Consultants.

From concept to design completion, Vice-President Jeff Thomas and his team have provided superior advice and expertise. We have also benefited from their familiarity in real-estate as well as stewardship and budget planning. The thought of commencing such an endeavor without the God-appointed proficiency and experience of Bro. Thomas and Omega is a foolish one. More importantly, by utilizing their services, we have saved time and money while retaining our evangelistic momentum.

Having completed the design and planning phases, and as we approach the bidding and construction phases, we feel confident the partnership with Omega Church Consultants will provide continued guidance and oversight.

An even wiser man said it better, 'Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it.' Thank you Omega, for being a tool in His hand!"

- Rev. Barry Claborn, pastor of Calvary Life Center

Omega Church Consultants, Inc.
Church Design & Build
Church Construction
Church Building