

MISSION IMPOSSIBLE 2.0 - JUNE 2014

This Sunday is our Open House at the Church Office. Please plan on staying for a few minutes after the service for a self-guided tour of the office, hotdogs and a question answer time. You can see for yourself the needed renovations.

You will also have the opportunity to let us know that you want to support this remodel. Our pledge sheets have been redone to reflect our conviction that just as God has made us uniquely different, each one of us, so also He has made the way we contribute to His work uniquely different. The pledge sheets allow for you to tell us how you want to contribute to M.I.2.0 in a way that is congruent with how God has made you.

Below is an email from one of our church family that illustrates a non-traditional way of giving that I believe fits well with who we are at OCF and what we are trying to accomplish.

“Hi Dan,

You wanted to know why I offered to donate my woodwork to the church. Well it's a little bit of a testimony: Dan you saw me at my worst. When I had told you that "I thought Jesus didn't care about me". I felt like I had the weight of the world on my shoulders, while walking in quicksand. Through prayer I realized that the tracks that I saw were those of my Lord caring me. Donating the woodworking items was in some small way telling the Lord I was SORRY for doubting his word and the love he has for me. The Lord gave me the gift of woodworking so I in return wanted to give a gift back to Him. What a better way than to lift Him up and improve His house.

Take Care and God be with you always,
Steve Skeen”

I shared this email at a Sunday service, not too long ago. Since then I have had several people come to me with their ideas of how they can contribute to M.I.2.0 in a way that “fits” them and honors the Lord. My prayer is that you too can become a contributor to our OCF Family in a way that is uniquely you. There is great joy in giving back to the Lord.

Blessings,
Pastor Dan
