Some Things Are Just Better, Stan Butt

“Though I have much to write to you, I would rather not use paper and ink. Instead I hope to come to you and talk to you face to face, so that our joy may be complete.”
~ 2 John 12

I had the privilege of attending the annual Leadership planning meeting with the elders, ministers, deacons, and ministry leaders. It was such a joy to be with them and I look forward to the year of work and worship ahead of us. I think it's going to be a year of joy, excitement, and POTENTIAL.

In fact, I've been so excited about it that I had to come down this past Thursday and Friday just to talk to Chris and Phil about how excited I am. I have to “play it down” at home a little bit for a few more weeks. It was great to pull into the parking lot of the building and think, “This is where I'll be preaching from now on.” It was an overwhelming thought.

This is a bittersweet time for our family, of course. It feels like we are beginning to take apart this life here, giving stuff away, scrounging for boxes, and cleaning out the church building office. We are sad to be saying “Goodbye” to so many of our old friends, but we are tremendously excited to begin our work here with you.

I've been teaching John's epistles at school for the past several weeks. John loved his readers. He always used tender terms when addressing them. As an “old man” in the church he thought of all of his readers as his “dear children,” and called them either that or his “Beloved.” Even when tackling serious subjects like hypocrisy and the Antichrists John's tenderness toward his readers is pervasive. At the end of both Second and Third John, he acknowledges the necessity of writing to them, but longs for the day when he can see them face to face. That's where I find myself right now. I am very glad to be writing my first bulletin article, but I cannot wait to see you face to face, not as the next guy “trying out,” but as a new member of this church. Some things are just better.

Our family is greatly honored by your many kindnesses and prayers on our behalf. And we are praying for you and for OUR shared future. ☐

Signing Day, Chris Parker

If you are a college football fan then you know that this past Wednesday was National Signing Day. This is the day that high school football players all over the country fax (yes, you read that right) their signed commitment letters to the college of their choice. Over time this has become quite an event, with live coverage on ESPN, social media bringing out the worst in fans, and even some schools claiming recruiting championships. While I believe this is a bit over done, I understand it’s an exciting time in these young athlete’s lives.

This is the culmination of all their hard work and talent. It’s every young high school player’s dream to play college ball. And with all that excitement, it’s hard for them to think about what is to come. If you’ve ever played football you know that when fall camp starts in late summer, in the hot, sticky summer, that’s when things get real. ESPN is not watching, casual fans don’t care, and coaches are in de-cruiting mode. That’s when coaches welcome all the freshmen and transfers by showing them that no matter who you were in high school, you are the low man, the little fish in the pond. But this where winning seasons begins. It’s a time of building strength, character and commitment.

When we put on Christ in baptism, that’s our signing day. We are as excited as we’ll ever be as Christians. We have buried the old sinful self. We have joined a family that celebrates with us and even the angels in heaven are rejoicing. The farthest thing from our mind is the season ahead.

Things are going to get hard. There are struggles on the way. It will seem very lonely sometimes. Our adversary is there to remind us of that old life we left behind and to knock us down every chance he gets. The hardest thing to do is stay excited but if we put the “pre-season” work in, it will pay off when the game gets tough. When we are down late in the fourth quarter and life keeps sacking us, we can get up, we can line up, and we can still win.

Victory is one of the greatest motivators. Be motivated and encouraged to know that we have victory in Jesus Christ. So stay in the game and stay excited that we have signed with the winning team!

Oh, and Go Falcons!

But thanks be to God, who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your labor is not in vain.

~ I Corinthians 15:57-58

Perfect Love

Someone wrote the following description of true love:

Slow to suspect - quick to trust,

Slow to condemn - quick to justify,

Slow to offend - quick to defend,

Slow to expose - quick to shield,

Slow to reprimand - quick to forbear,

Slow to belittle - quick to appreciate,

Slow to demand - quick to give,

Slow to provoke - quick to conciliate,

Slow to hinder - quick to help,

Slow to resent - quick to forgive,

No doubt, this description reminds us of the one given by Paul in 1 Corinthians: “Love suffers long and is kind; love does not envy; love does not parade itself, is not puffed up; does not behave rudely, does not seek its own, is not provoked, thinks no evil; does not rejoice in iniquity, but rejoices in the truth; bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things.” (1 Cor. 13.4-7)

“The Greatest of these is love.”

~1 Corinthians 13.13
