

Mayling Martinez

Piano and Voice
Kean Univeristy

Mayling Martinez began her piano studies at the age of twelve, and graduated with high honors from the Piano Guild in 1999. She subsequently obtained her teaching certificate from the National Guild of Piano Teachers (NGPT) in 2000, and has continued to hold a large private studio of talented and dedicated piano students since that time. Mayling also holds an Associates degree in Fine Arts/Music. This naturally led to her studies at Kean University in both piano and voice performance.

At Kean, Mayling began as a piano performance major and quickly realized her desire to be a vocalist as well. She has participated in numerous ensembles at the university including the Chamber Music Program, the Concert Choir, Chorale, the Percussion Ensemble, and the Jazz Ensemble.

As a vocalist, she is well versed to perform many musical styles including Classical Art Songs, Lieder, Opera, Jazz, and Latin American. Mayling finished her undergraduate degree in both voice and piano with high honors May of 2013.

She intends to continue her piano and vocal studies by pursuing graduate and doctoral degrees with her choice of institution being the Manhattan School of Music.
