Message from Jacqui One of the reasons St George's Sunday services run so smoothly and bring such comfort and enjoyment to so many is because the clergy are so ably assisted by members of the congregation in roles such as servers, intercessors, Eucharistic assistants, readers and side persons. And we thank them for their commitments to their roles. However, due to factors such as age and health reasons, some of our body of Christ have had to take themselves off rosters. As such we need more people to commit to these roles. Therefore, it would be deeply appreciated if you considered utilising your gifts in one of these ways to serve each other. Training and on-going support would be given. Please contact Jacqui if you have any queries.

Welcome to Sue and Andrei who have come to us today to take part in the Grassroots Dialogue project of the Council for Christians and Jews. They will speak in the sermon time about their own faith journeys. It is especially fitting that they visit us today when we will baptise Roky Brglez and Aleasha Cheetham

Sue Mendelson graduated as a Lawyer in 1973 and later took out at BA Honours and later and MA specialising in History. She taught at Deakin and Monash universities in Holocaust and World War 11 and now gives presentations and conduct workshops, and now this wonderful Dialogue project. Like all women she juggles! She has four grandchildren, two of whom are in the UK, and other two in Melbourne

Andrei Bajurnow is a regular church going Catholic parishioner who, when presented with the opportunity to participate in the Grassroots Dialogue Project, accepted immediately.
