THE CHARACTERS OF THE PASSION

A Lenten Mission

MARCH 11-12-13

7:30 pm

Led by Father Jerome Cudden, O.P.

When we read the scriptural accounts of the Passion of Jesus Christ,
we read the Gospels
through a Resurrection lens because we know that Jesus has risen from the dead.

But what about the men and women who took part in the Passion of Jesus without knowing the reality of the Resurrection?

This Mission will examine the roles played by Peter and Judas
Pilate and Herod Antipas
Claudia, Herodias, Barabbas, Dismas and Mary

and how their actions are applicable to our own spiritual lives.

CHRIST BESIDE ME...CHRIST WITHIN ME

Saint Joseph's original crucifix (seen above right) had become damaged over the 65 plus years it hung over our altar. Through the generosity of Fr. Roy who donated the proceeds from his concert with "The Nightingales," along with the beneficence of additional donors, a beautiful new crucifix was created for our church. The original crucifix, repaired by the artist who designed our new one, is now hanging in the Reconciliation Room off the Elm Street entrance. The "Risen Christ" (shown opposite), which replaced the crucified body of Christ every Easter season, is now mounted on the balcony and "sends us forth" after every Mass with Christ in our hearts.

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

The Church has four major mendicant orders, a name that implies that their members were to live in such material simplicity that, when necessary, they were permitted to beg for their very sustenance. The original two, the Franciscans and the Dominicans, were later joined by the Hermits of St. Augustine and the Carmelites, and eventually by other smaller communities that adopted their ideals.

The first stirrings of religious life grew out of the practices of desert ascetics who lived the solitary life of hermits. The best known of these was St. Anthony, not the famous Anthony many call on to help them find misplaced items, but an austere and greatly respected holy man who lived in the Egyptian wilderness in the fourth century. In time, the number of hermits grew greatly, and those who inhabited a given area came to gather for common prayers, to be better nourished by sacramental life. And to share meals and other necessities in life. In time, through the efforts of such great figures as St. Benedict and St. Basil, this way of life developed into monasticism, as those who sought to devote themselves to God's ways lived together under the great Gospel values of poverty, chastity and obedience, guided by the "rules" of their particular congregation's traditional observance of them.

Before and throughout the Middle Ages in the West, the great monasteries did crucial work preserving the riches of classical civilization, the threatened heritage of the Roman Empire. Many also became politically and economically powerful, filling a vacuum left by secular rulers too weak to withstand the pressures of barbarians.

With the rise of larger towns and cities in Europe, many people who had once led stable but meager lives as dependents of feudal lords gravitated to these new centers of activity. But very often they did not find the gains they sought and found themselves in dreadful poverty, reduced to begging in order to survive.

It was in this context that the founders of the Dominican and Franciscan orders, St. Dominic (c. 1172-1221) and St. Francis of Assisi (1181-1226), did their illustrious work. Both were highly attuned to the needs of the poor and to the Gospel's insistence that Christians aid them. Francis famously exchanged his clothing for a beggar's ragged robe; and Dominic, even while still in his studies for the priesthood, displayed a similar spirit by selling his books and various other possessions to help needy people during a time of famine. (Asked once which books he most often read, Dominic said, "I have studied the book of charity more than any other, for it teaches us all things.") and Dominicans was their zeal for bringing the Gospel message to the people they worked among. Monika Hellwig explained why they were well situated to do so:

From the beginnings in the twelfth century, the mendicant friars were distinguished ... from the older, monastic communities. Though they took vows and formed permanent communities, they did not follow a prescribed horarium (daily schedule) and were not bound to a particular place. They were intended to be itinerant preachers, able to follow apostolic needs wherever they arose.

Dominic was an avid participant in the preaching task, very notably in efforts to counteract the Albigensian heresy in southern France. He started an initiative called "The Holy Preaching," which eventually contributed great services to the universal Church and is why the formal name of the Dominicans is the Order of Preachers.

Another prominent characterist of the spiritual work of the Dominicans and Franciscans was their pastoral fervor for hearing Confessions, which the Pope gave them broad authorization to do. This fit in well with their preaching of the Gospel message, especially during the Church's great penitential season of Lent. As the liturgical scholar Gerhard Podhradsky has noted:

With the emergence of the mendicant orders ... there appeared the Lenten sermons with their predominant passion theme. These were often delivered daily and later ordered by the Council of Trent as "instruction of the faithful."

If this sounds a little like a parish Lenten mission, we are about to have one. Dominican Father Jerome Cudden, who is from our parish, will be preaching this Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. He will be focusing on people who had significant parts in the passion narratives. It promises to be instructive, interesting and inspiring. I hope you can be there. Father Jerome will be at all of this weekend's Masses to invite you to his presentations.

Msgr. David Hubba

Fr. Jerome Cudden, O.P. (see also cover of this bulletin) returns to us with a unique Lenten mission designed to help us prepare spiritually to enter into the Lord Jesus Christ's passion. Fr. Jerome, who grew up right here in Saint Joseph, is a Dominican priest and currently pastor of St. Dominic's in Benezia, California. A fascinating speaker, Fr. Jerome will give us insights into the actions of the men and women who were actually present during the Lord's passion and the application they have to our own lives when he comes on March 11-12-13. Join us for one night or all three!

*"Turn to us, Lord,
and show us your mercy;
blot out all our sins."*

STEWARDSHIP REFLECTION

"I have now brought you the first fruits of the products of the soil which you, O Lord, have given to me." (Deuteronomy 26:10)

This line from the Old Testament offers two challenges. First, do you give to God from your "first fruits" the best that you have to offer, or do you give from what is leftover? Second, do you recognize that everything you have has been given to you by God? Ask God for a grateful and generous heart, every day, in all circumstances..
