STEWARDSHIP REFLECTION

"Rather, when you hold a banquet, invite the poor, the crippled, the lame, the blind; blessed indeed will you be because of their inability to repay you." LUKE 14: 13-14

We have a difficult time with the concept of giving without expecting something in return. Even when we give to charity we often want something in return—a raffle ticket, a dinner or a chance to play golf. Yet, as Christian stewards we need to remember that the true reward for our giving awaits us in heaven.

SUMMER GIFTS

Warm sunshine, ocean breezes, sweet fruit, a chance to play and a chance to rest—all wonderful summer blessings from God. Show your appreciation by remembering the Lord's Church in these last weeks of summer by dropping off or mailing your parish envelope (especially if you will be traveling over the Labor Day weekend). Thank you for helping Saint Joseph meet its operating expenses and for keeping our parish vital and its missions strong.

FALL MASS SCHEDULE

Our Adult Choir will return to the 10:30 am Sunday Mass in the upper church on September 11. Our second 10:30 am Sunday Mass in Mary's Chapel (lower church) will also resume.

OUR NEWEST SAINT —MOTHER TERESA

Pick up your holy card of St. Teresa of Kolkata (Mother Teresa) at Mass next weekend as a remembrance of her canonization on September 4.

PARISH OFFICE CLOSED —SEPTEMBER 5

The Parish Office/Rectory will be closed on Monday, September 5. Regular Friday office hours will resume on September 9.

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

One day in 1960, a tiny nun appeared before a customs officer at the Los Angeles airport. It was her first trip to the United States and the first time she had journeyed outside India since she entered the missionary Sisters of Loreto in Darjeeling in 1928. The man asked her, "Where are you going?" When she replied, "To Las Vegas," he burst out laughing. She was going there to an arena the city of Las Vegas used to let charitable groups use for free, to tell the 3,000 delegates of the annual convention of the National Council of Catholic Women about the work she and her fellow sisters did in the new religious community she had started in Calcutta. Because it was the first speech she ever gave, she was very nervous.

Judging by its results, the talk went well. Mother Teresa left with the fascinated admiration of the delegates and a number of bags of money, spontaneous donations for her work with the poorest of the poor, the single apostolic purpose of her Missionaries of Charity, who cared for the abandoned people who lived on the streets of Calcutta, some of them struggling greatly to survive and some of them at the very verge of death. On her way out of Las Vegas, Mother Teresa stopped at its desert outskirts for some meditative moments, then picked some thorns from a nearby cactus, which she took back to the sisters' convent in Calcutta, where they still serve as the crown of thorns for its statue of the head of Jesus.

On her way back to India, she stopped off at Rome for an audience with Pope John XXIII, to seek his approval to make her sisters a pontifical congregation, which would mean they could extend their work beyond India. The Pope sent her to see Cardinal Agagianian, head of the Vatican department that handled such matters. When Mother Teresa showed up for the appointment, he and one of his deputies, an Archbishop, questioned her, and looked over the proposed constitution for the community and the prayer book they used, which was mimeographed on paper of cheap quality. After examining the book, the Archbishop whispered to the Cardinal, "But it doesn't have an imprimatur" (the Church's official permission to "let it be printed"). And the Cardinal said, "But they are poor!" The Missionaries of Charity got their pontifical status and now work in 132 countries. Mother Teresa would one day write that God is in love with us and keeps using you and me to light the light of love in the world. Let His light of truth be in your life so that God can continue loving the world through you and me. Put your heart into being a bright light.

Mother Teresa, whose original name was Gonxha (Agnes) Bojaxhiu, was born on August 27, 1910 in

Skopje, Macedonia. Her parents were Albanian. Her father, Nikola, owned a construction business and was very involved in the political cause for gaining Albanian independence. Her mother, Dronda, was a deeply religious woman who once took a cancer patient into her home when the woman's own family wanted nothing to do with her. Soon after her father died, when Gonxha was eighteen, she decided to become a missionary nun. Her mother gave her consent. Gonxha's older brother, Lazar, an army lieutenant, later said that

It must have cost our mother a lot to let Gonxha go so far away to join the Loreto Sisters. And never to see her again. But there was no going back. They both knew the decision had been the right one.

This didn't stop Lazar from trying to dissuade his sister from her vocation, thinking she was burying herself. He wrote her to say so, and got this reply:

You think you are so important, as an official serving the king of two million subjects. Well, I am an official too, serving the King of the whole world.

Mother Teresa certainly fulfilled the intention she professed. Once she said, speaking of her religious sisters, that "If there were poor people on the moon, we would have to go there, too."

Her charitable efforts first became widely known when the British journalist and TV personality Malcolm Muggeridge made a documentary on her work for the BBC in 1969, later followed by his classic book Something Beautiful for God, entitled after a phrase she often spoke. Muggeridge himself would become a Catholic believer, in great part because of Mother Teresa's inspiration.

Of the accounts of her apostolic visits, my own favorite is one she made to California's San Quentin Prison in 1987. She insisted on going to its death row, which then housed more than three hundred condemned men. One of them, Michael Wayne Hunter, after receiving one of the religious medals she handed out, overheard her say to a sergeant in charge of some of these prisoners, "What you do to these men, you do to God."

Mother Teresa will be canonized next Saturday, something that has been expected by Catholics ever since her death in 1997. She often said:

If we pray, we will believe;
if we believe, we will love;
if we love, we will serve.

She did all three. And she encouraged us to do the same. She once wrote:

You can find Calcutta in every part of the world, if you have eyes to see—wherever there are persons who are not loved, not wanted, not cared for, the rejected and the forgotten. This is the greatest poverty.

BIBLE STUDY SIGN-UP TODAY!

In person sign-ups will take place this weekend after all Masses in the Harrison Street lobby of the church.

You may also register ONLINE by going to our parish website: sjcnj.org and clicking on "Parish Activities" and then on "Bible Study 2016-2017."

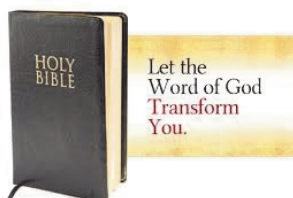

ONLINE STUDY AVAILABLE

For the first time, we will be offering a Bible Study that can be done on your own at home. This eight-part study provides the easiest way to understand the Bible. Unlocking the Mystery of the Bible makes the complex simple. It helps you uncover the story woven throughout Scripture so that you can get the "big picture" of the Bible and understand what it is all about. (This study will also be offered on campus on Tuesdays at 7:30 pm.) There is minimal 'homework' and each session includes a 30-minute DVD lesson. Everyone can benefit from this study, but parents of school-aged children are particularly encouraged to participate in order to help with their children's religious education.

TRADITIONAL WEEKLY GROUP SESSIONS

Our Newest Study is called Follow Me: Meeting Jesus in the Gospel of John (8 weeks).

Others studies for this year include Acts of the Apostles (20 weeks), James (10 weeks), and A Biblical Walk through the Mass (5 weeks). All studies meet weekly for 90 minutes on the parish grounds (Parish Life Center or Jackson Room).

STUDY GUIDES & FEES

Study guide costs range from $20-30. To find out more about this parish-based Bible Study Program, please visit our parish website sjcnj.org (see above) or ascensionpress.com or contact Pat Fakharzadeh at 201-599-2123 or email her at bible@sjcnj.org
