Rev. Stephen Forrest

Living the Gospel...

Strong with the Weak,
Weak with the Strong.

One of the striking things about our Gospel today is that Jesus (once again, because we are listening to Luke's Gospel) is dining. He is with the Pharisees. The same party of people who are out to kill him for breaking religious laws. He reminds them that honor is not something assumed but assigned. Because of their powerful religious position, the Pharisees were obviously assuming that they were "owed" the seats of honor at banquets simply because they held a position of power. Jesus throughout the gospels keenly shows how the Pharisees used their position as a religious leader to assume power for themselves. Jesus then calls them on this and invites them to see that perhaps our God is not this way.

What Jesus simply points out is that to assume that you are owed or honored is a great mistake. Sometimes, even in our faith or religious life we can end up with a sense of entitlement. If I am a good person, if I "do the right thing", or if I help someone, surely I should be rewarded right? Jesus points out, not necessarily, the places at the right and the left of God are not His to give. Jesus just promises a simple sense of inner joy when we are able to do, understand or make God's will present in our lives and in the lives of others. Then and only then, when praise comes, when someone wants to "honor" us, it comes as a surprise because we don't feel entitled to or feel we are owed something because of who we are, what we do or the title we have.

The first being last and the last being first should always give us a sense of Christian humility. The hard thing is putting it into practice every day.

FORRESTS@ARCHMIL.ORG

Fuerte con el Débil,
Débil con el Fuerte.

Uno de los aspectos sorprendentes de nuestro Evangelio de hoy es que Jesús (una vez más, porque estamos escuchando el Evangelio de Lucas) está comiendo. Él está con los Fariseos. El mismo grupo de personas que están buscando matarlo por violar las leyes religiosas. Les recuerda que el honor no es algo asumido, pero asignado. Debido a su alta posición religiosa, los fariseos obviamente suponían que se les "debían" los asientos de honor en los banquetes, simplemente porque se hallaban en una posición de poder. Jesús a través de los Evangelios profundamente muestra cómo los fariseos utilizaban su posición como líderes religiosos para asumir el poder por sí mismos. Entonces Jesús les pide cuantas sobre esto y los invita a ver que tal vez nuestro Dios no es así.

Lo que Jesús simplemente señala es que suponer que se les debe o honra es un gran error. A veces, incluso en nuestra fe o vida religiosa podemos tener un sentido de derecho. Si yo soy una buena persona, si "hago lo correcto", o si ayudo a alguien, seguramente seré recompensado ¿verdad? Jesús señala que, no necesariamente, los lugares a la derecha y la izquierda de Dios no son suyos para dar. Jesús sólo promete un simple sentido de alegría interior cuando somos capaces de hacer, entender o ejercer la voluntad de Dios en nuestras vidas y en las vidas de los demás. Entonces y sólo entonces, cuando llega el halago, cuando alguien quiere "honrarnos" llega como una sorpresa porque no nos sentimos con el derecho, o el sentir que se nos debe, porque lo que somos, lo que hacemos o el título que tenemos.

El primero será el último y el último el primero siempre debe darnos un sentido de la humildad Cristiana. Lo difícil es ponerlo en práctica todos los días.

Sharing the Gospel

Most of the guests at a wedding party are crowding around the bride and groom. When the bride sees you sitting outside, she says, "Come inside and drink some punch." God will have a big feast at the end of the world. When he sees you standing outside the gates of heaven, he will put his arm around you and say, "Come right on in, my child. I've been waiting for you."

Prayer

Lord, thank you for finding me when others leave me out.

Mission for the Week

I will take a glass of water and a cookie to my parents.

Parish Evangelization

“There are no strangers here... only friends we haven't met.”

Do you like receiving gifts? We might think that the best way to encourage a person to like us is to give a gift, but today's reading from Sirach says that there is a better way – much less expensive and more effective. “Conduct your affairs with humility and you will be loved more than a giver of gifts.” A boisterous and aggressive individual is usually difficult for others to accept. He alienates people by his belligerent and bullying attitude. It is much harder to reject a person who is humble and quiet.

Sirach also writes that the greater you are, the more important it is to be humble. We often expect famous people to act in an aloof manner, and when they don't, we say that he or she “is a regular person, down to earth; one of us.” It's another way of saying that they are humble and we are glad about it. Sirach shows that he is a straightforward realist when he advises us to admit that some tasks and positions are beyond the strengths and talents of some of us. To be told that we are unable to do a particular job can be discouraging – but if it's the truth, we should admit it. Such an honest admission is a vital part of humility. Although we are created equal as regards basic rights, we are unequal in intelligence and talents. Recognizing our abilities (our gifts) – whether superior, average, or inferior – is another mark of genuine humility.

The Gospel from Luke complements this teaching by warning us not to push ourselves into positions of honor, especially where we are not invited. We might have the tenth row from center stage, but out of pride we push into the front seats if they are empty. Just before the curtain opens, some dignitaries are ushered in to occupy those seats reserved for them and we must then go back to our seats (which may already be occupied by somebody else). Aggressive pride and selfishness can be our own worst enemy. And our lack of humility can also cause us to make statements and give answers about things we don't know about, because we are too proud to admit our lack of knowledge and say, “I don't know.”

As “Gentle Evangelizers,” and according to Sirach and the Gospel of Luke, if you want to be happy, successful and have a good reputation, “conduct your affairs with humility...” + Be truthful, and in doing so you will free yourself to serve others. + Be generous in giving to others who cannot repay you and for which you do not expect repayment. + Look inside your own heart; would you freely give up everything you have, including your place in society, for the love of Jesus Christ? Perhaps you should ask yourself, “What did He give up for me?”

R.C.I.A.

The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (RCIA) begins in September, with classes every two weeks continuing through to Pentecost (50 days after Easter). There is no cost to attend. For more information, call 262-748-0708.

Lights, Camera ... Faith!

Like some other kids, 12 year old Trevor McKinney believed in the goodness of human nature. He was determined to change the world for the better. Unlike most other kids, he succeeded. Three imperfect people, one perfect idea! The simplest idea can make the biggest difference. Pay It Forward, © 2000, is a great movie about living generously, of the debt we owe to Christ (see last paragraph of “Gentle Evangelizers”) that is to be repaid in service to others. Rated PG-13 for mature thematic elements, the film is 123 minutes long. Why not join us in the Strenski Center on First Friday, September 3rd; at 6:30 pm. It's a movie you will long remember!
