

Women's Calibration and Momentum Cruise Setting Sail...again!

We had a blast on our first cruise, relaxing, laughing, eating, and exploring Key West and Cozumel together! Since Kristi and I have been blessed with enthusiastic and encouraging feedback from our cruise group, we're keeping the momentum going by presenting another cruise opportunity!

"4 Night Bahamas Cruise" January 2-6, 2014 Celebrity Constellation

- *Travels from Ft. Lauderdale to Nassau, Bahamas, and Key West, FL
- *Same cruise ship, same days of the week as we just experienced.
- *Same rates – Inside cabin $349, Ocean view $399,
Veranda $529, Concierge $549

We are putting communication out now to ensure women have ample time to save and plan.

Celebrity is offering a Special Promotion until February 18 with the following options for Ocean View or higher categories (not valid on Inside rooms). You may choose one of the three:

- *Complimentary basic beverage/alcohol package for 2 per room
- *$100 onboard credit per room
- *Free gratuity for 2 per room

If you cannot book during this special promotion period, you can still take advantage of the group discount of $25 per person.

Deposit requirement to book is $100 per cabin ($50 pp for 2 occupants)

Our group number has 5 Oceanview and 5 Concierge rooms set aside (the most popular for the 2013 group).

Last year we announced a year in advance, and spent months meeting and giving information to those interested. With the low deposit requirement and the feedback spreading from the 2013 group, we're confident that next January will be another anticipated and exciting time away for our ladies! Please visit www.celebritycruise.com to get all the details on this cruise! Start praying and planning to be a snowbird next January!

CRUISE 101

1. Why Cruise?

Cruising is an all-inclusive vacation. For one price, you get lodging, varied dining options, entertainment, and tropical locations. Cruising is also budget friendly. An initial low deposit guarantees your room, and final payments are usually due two months from sailing. No money is needed once you board the ship!

2. Why this time of year?

*Traveling to a warm locale during the cold season is a treat! One cruiser commented that the sunshine and warm weather really helped her mood in the middle of gray winter days. and she appreciated the relaxation after a busy holiday season!

*Early January does not compete with summer and typical family vacation plans. This specific time of year is very compatible with school schedules, most kid's sports calendars, and holiday plans. One cruiser commented that 4 days is the perfect amount of time!

3. Do I want to cruise with a bunch of women from church?

Absolutely! Christians should be the most joyful people on the planet! Our group had several inquiries from fellow cruisers, asking who we were and where we were from. We were pretty loud at times! We were intentional to let each woman enjoy the cruise in her own way, so we set no obligations and no agendas. We did have a few people who grouped to explore the Mayan ruins in Cozumel, while others went to chill at the beach and barter shop together. Our group had the dinner option at 6 each evening, which was a great time to be waited on for a four course meal, full of laughter and sampling dishes. We brought the house down with our Karaoke nights, and one of our group participants won the "Dancing with the Staff" contest! Women who have passed each other at church, are now facebook friends, bonded together in pictures and shared experiences that will be lifelong treasures.

4. Consider this: We give priority to our spouses, children, jobs, ministries, etc. and rightfully so. But when was the last time you went away on a personal retreat? Consider comments from the 2013 group: "I didn't know how much I needed to just relax", "I've never done something like this for myself", "This trip was restful, fun, rejuvenating, much needed, satisfying", "I got to know ladies that I've just passed at church". Some women invited girlfriends or relatives for a "sister girl" reunion! Come and sail away with us!
