Donation Perspective: At The Daughter Project, we believe all donations given to us are actually donations given to our girls and to God, Himself. We also believe that the girls and God deserve to be given only the best we can offer. Therefore, we will only accept donations of new items. We realize this “donation perspective” may offend some people but we hope everyone will be gracious to us in this regard. Ultimately our focus is on the well-being of our girls and we believe our “only new items” policy reflects this. Moreover, the girls in our home may have never received anything new in their lives so when we give them something, we want it to be new. We expect this to help the girls make progress in their long journey of realizing their own self-worth in the eyes of others and, most importantly, in the eyes of God.
