

April 27/28 Study Questions

1. "Guilt" "Joy" "Pain" "Pent Up Desire" "Gratitude" "Hope" "Frustration" "Embarrassment" "Fulfillment" "Shame" Our sexuality and any discussion of it immediately produces a vast array of feelings. Why? What is it about our sexuality that impacts us so deeply?
2. Proverbs depicts a father discussing sex with his son. Why is it such a difficult discussion to have and what can we do to encourage and equip parents to be far more open with their children about this subject?
3. Our surrounding culture knows almost nothing of the value of a passionate fidelity. It is almost as if the concept is from another era. How can we celebrate God's best plan for our sexuality without seeming judgmental or critical.
4. One of the greatest enemies of healthy sexuality is secrecy. Pornography, sexual dysfunction, pain, unfaithfulness, etc. is typically kept secret. How can we encourage open dialogue on this subject without losing the value of keeping those things private and intimate that ought to be kept private and intimate.
5. Discuss the role of accountability and having someone who will hold you accountable to the highest sexual ethic.