

PART TWO: PAC MAN
TOBY NEWNUM
DECEMBER 9&10, 2017

What Are We Allowing to Steal Our Peace?

PROVERBS21.20

*The wise store up choice food and olive oil,
but fools gulp theirs down.*

There are many peace-stealers,
one of the most damaging is

CONSUMPTION

MATTHEW6.26&27

Look at the birds in the sky. They do not plant seeds. They do not gather grain. They do not put grain into a building to keep. Yet your Father in heaven feeds them! Are you not more important than the birds?

vision
TEACHING NOTES

PART TWO: PAC MAN
TOBY NEWNUM
DECEMBER 9&10, 2017

What Are We Allowing to Steal Our Peace?

PROVERBS21.20

*The wise store up choice food and olive oil,
but fools gulp theirs down.*

There are many peace-stealers,
one of the most damaging is

CONSUMPTION

MATTHEW6.26&27

Look at the birds in the sky. They do not plant seeds. They do not gather grain. They do not put grain into a building to keep. Yet your Father in heaven feeds them! Are you not more important than the birds?

vision
TEACHING NOTES

TEACHING NOTES

CONSUMPTION

I believe that consumption has even found it's way into the church culture. Many churches have learned to create a marketing approach and many of us have become "church-shoppers." In the spirit of outreach, over the years, at Vision we've also read the books and put in place some of the methods. In hindsight, learning to become a "brand" certainly helped us grow for a while, but in the long run perhaps has created the problem of a "customer" mentality where some go to church and expect to be served.

So now, we embrace the responsibility to help us move away from being consumers to becoming servants and providers...not to serve the church, but God and people in our community and beyond. Pretty quickly, here at Vision, you'll pick up on the idea that we are becoming more focused on helping others even if it is not the most consumer-friendly approach.

When we go to a restaurant or retail establishment, appropriately, we expect to be served, but at church, and in our relationship with God, we trade in our menu or shopping cart for an apron or a good pair of gloves. When we roll up our sleeves and give our time, energy and money to help others in Christ's love, we'll find true peace. Consumption steals our peace.

TEACHING NOTES

CONSUMPTION

I believe that consumption has even found it's way into the church culture. Many churches have learned to create a marketing approach and many of us have become "church-shoppers." In the spirit of outreach, over the years, at Vision we've also read the books and put in place some of the methods. In hindsight, learning to become a "brand" certainly helped us grow for a while, but in the long run perhaps has created the problem of a "customer" mentality where some go to church and expect to be served.

So now, we embrace the responsibility to help us move away from being consumers to becoming servants and providers...not to serve the church, but God and people in our community and beyond. Pretty quickly, here at Vision, you'll pick up on the idea that we are becoming more focused on helping others even if it is not the most consumer-friendly approach.

When we go to a restaurant or retail establishment, appropriately, we expect to be served, but at church, and in our relationship with God, we trade in our menu or shopping cart for an apron or a good pair of gloves. When we roll up our sleeves and give our time, energy and money to help others in Christ's love, we'll find true peace. Consumption steals our peace.

