ON GIVING THANKS

Thanksgiving is arguably our most religious holiday in the sense that we as a nation pause specifically to thank God for His many blessings. But there's the rub. To the self-sufficient, pausing to thank God for one's possessions and accomplishments seems a redundancy, since they believe it is their effort alone that has gotten them such things. To the irreligious, Thanksgiving seems an absurdity; since they believe there is no God to thank. And to too many Americans, Thanksgiving consists of little more than eating, watching football, eating, watching more football, etc.

That's why it's good we be reminded as a nation to thank God, for "in Him we live and move and have our being" (Acts 17:28). Every dollar we earn, every accolade we receive, indeed, every breath we take is a gracious gift from Him. Thanksgiving serves to remind us of this. Or at least it should- of our utter dependence on God, and our obligation to thank Him for His gracious provisions. There is no room for pride or self-sufficiency here, for everything we have and are comes from Him.

In this sense, Thanksgiving is a call fro us as a nation to repent of our pride and self-sufficiency and humbly acknowledge our Creator. Abraham Lincoln said it far more eloquently than I ever could when he issued this proclamation on April 30, 1863, designating a day of national fasting and prayer, which would become the basis for our Thanksgiving Day.

He wrote:

"We have been the recipients of the choicest bounties of heaven. We have been preserved, these many years, in peace and prosperity. We have grown in numbers, wealth and power, as no other nation has ever grown. But we have forgotten God. We have forgotten the gracious hand which preserved us in peace, and multiplied and enriched and strengthened us; and we have vainly imagined, in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these blessings were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own. Intoxicated with unbroken success, we have become too self-sufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving grace, too proud to pray to the God that made us! It behooves us, then to humble ourselves before the offended Power, to confes our national sins. And to pray for clemency and forgiveness."

What was true of America in 1863 is certainly true today. This Thanksgiving let's come with humble hearts to thank God for His blessing.

For Him-
Dan

Election Reflection

The 2012 elections will soon be over and America will have chosen a new president. Whoever that person is, whether Republican or Democrat, conservative or liberal, all of us as Christians are urged by Scripture to pray for our political leaders, In I Timothy 2:1-2 Paul writes: "I urge...that request, prayers, intercession and thanksgiving be made for everyone – for kings and all those in authority, that we may live peaceful and quiet lives in all godliness and holiness." The goal of good government is to provide a peaceful and orderly society. (Romans 13:1-7) wherein the gospel may spread and God's kingdom expand (I Timothy 2:3-1). Praying for our leaders helps provide this "fertile soil" for the work of the gospel. God honors such prayers with a peaceful society and receptive hearts as the gospel is proclaimed.

Praying for our leaders can also change their hearts to desire God's will be done in government policy. When Nehemiah stood before King Artaxerxes desiring to return to Jerusalem and rebuild the city, he first prayed to God before making his request (Nehemiah 2:4-5). God honored that prayer by putting within the king's heart the desire to allow Nehemiah to return to Jerusalem and rebuild it.

And God can and will change the hearts of political leaders today. If, for example, our new president favors policies which are contrary to God's will (such as abortion rights and gay rights) we should pray that God change his heart, for the Bible tells us, "the king's heart is in the hand of the Lord; He directs it like a watercourse wherever He pleases" (Proverbs 21:1). And if our new president favors policies which are contrary to secular culture (such as the right to life for the unborn and the defense of marriage from gay marriage and civil unions), then we should pray that God keep his heart steadfast, for the Bible tells "remove the wicked from the king's presence, and his throne will be established through righteousness" (Proverbs 25:5). So no matter who our next president is come this November, if God's people pray for him and our other national leaders, it may be just the spark needed to turn this nation back to God. I hope so. Let's pray so.

For Him-
Dan

I would like to ask the congregation to pray for our team going to Charlotte on November 23-25. We have 14 team members, a good mix of teens and adults. While in Charlotte, we will be feeding the homeless along with working in the Operation Christmas Child processing center. On Sunday, we are going to worship with a local church in Concord and then head for home. It will be a busy weekend but I know it will be well worth it.

There are two important items that the Team Members of the Charlotte need be aware of:

1. November 4: A very brief, but important meeting concerning the trip. We will meet in the Middle School Room.
2. November 11: Trip expense is due. Make checks out to West Side and give to me or Shelia, just let Shelia know it is for the trip.

Middle School Kids save Sunday December 16th for a Christmas in the City trip. We will go to downtown Cincinnati and go ice skating, enjoy a horse drawn carriage ride, see the train display and marvel at the decorations. More information coming soon.

Hymn Formation (c)
by Sam Sippel

Veteran’s Day is set aside to remember our servicemen and women, who sacrificed their freedoms and sometimes their lives so we may have ours. On that day, the marching bands and choirs perform the service songs. Many listen and sing along, like they were listening to the radio, instead of paying attention to the words that remind everyone of these sacrifices.

One of the most stirring is “Eternal Father, Strong to Save.” It is also known as the “Navy Hymn,” for it is sung worldwide by seafaring mariners, whether they be civilians or military personnel.

“Eternal Father” is one of many prayers and songs that have been written to ask for God’s protection while travelling. Maritime travel was, and is, especially dangerous. Months, even years, could pass before the homelink would receive a letter from their loved ones. God’s protective hand would insure that their loved ones had a safe, uneventful voyage.

William Whiting (1825-1878) was an English music school teacher. One of his young students was about to sail for America. He wrote this as a prayer for safe travel while on this long, difficult voyage. Soon, the words were set to music composed by John B. Dykes (3/10/1823-1/22/1876), a prominent English hymn composer and organist. His 300 compositions include “Holy, Holy, Holy” and “Jesus, the very thought of Thee.”

It became a favorite of the British Royal Navy as well as the French navy. They carried this song throughout the world as they travelled the seven seas. Eventually, the hymn came to America. It became such a favorite that the U.S. Naval Academy adopted it as one of their official songs. This association caused the song to be referred to as “The Navy Hymn.”

Not many people know that this was Prime Minister Winston Churchill’s favorite hymn. When he met with Pres. Franklin D. Roosevelt aboard a warship on the North Atlantic during World War II, Churchill requested this song be played. This may have been because he recognized FDR’s roles as former Assistant Secretary of the Navy during World War I and his current role as Commander-in-Chief of the U.S. armed forces. Later, it was played at FDR’s funeral in 1945. Nearly 20 years later, it was played at Pres. John F. Kennedy’s funeral. It was one of this former World War II naval hero’s favorites as well.

Today, the song is still popular. Robert W. Morgan notes that as new branches of service are created new updated verses are added. (“Then Sings my Soul,” p. 137.) Wikipedia lists 18 different versions and variants of the hymn.

“Eternal Father! Strong to Save,
Whose Arm hath bound the restless wave.
Who bid’st the might ocean deep
Its own appointed limits keep.
O hear us when we cry to Thee
For those in peril on the sea.
“O Father, source of love and pow’r!
Our brethren shield in danger’s hour,
From rock and tempest, fire and foe,
Protect them wheresoe’er they go;
Thus ever more shall rise to Thee
Glad hymns of praise from land and sea.”

–William
Whiting, 1860.

*“But I am poor and sorrowful;
Let Your salvation, O God, set me on high.
I will praise the name of God with a song,
And magnify Him with Thanksgiving.”
Psalm 69:29, 30*

Reflections from Cards of Encouragement - This month's theme is “God's Bountiful Blessings”.

Lifted Up by the Bountiful Blessings of God's Grace

“Save me, O God!. For the waters have come up to my neck. I sink in deep mire, Where there is no standing; I have come into deep waters Where the floods overflow me. I am weary with my crying; My throat is dry; My eyes fail while I wait for my God. . . .O God, You know my foolishness; And my sins are not hidden from You.”

Picture the scene of deep despair that David, the king of Israel, paints in Psalm 69, as he is under attack from his enemies. Feelings of responsibility and guilt (foolishness) over the cause of his despair are mingled with his feelings of sinking, weariness, loneliness, and unfairness. As David's cries to God about his enemies intensify, we begin to see signs of hope. Rays of light shine through the darkness of despair with encouraging words of God's grace.

*“But as for me, my prayer is to You, O Lord, in the acceptable time; O God, in the multitude of Your mercy, Hear me in the truth of Your salvation. . . .Hear me, O Lord, for Your lovingkindness is good;
Turn to me according to the multitude of Your tender mercies.”*

Gradually, David climbed out of the mire of despair as he grabbed hold of the rungs of God's ladder of grace. We see David emerge praising the name of God with a song. David's circumstances with his enemies had not changed, but his feelings of despair and guilt had been lifted with the bountiful blessings of God's amazing grace.

Do you feel under attack from an enemy, your illness? Can you identify with many of David's emotions? I certainly could during my illnesses. At times I felt I was sinking in a mire heavy with despair and guilt. During my treatments for cancer, I struggled with guilt about the burden my illness was putting on my family. I questioned what “foolishness” I might have done to cause my illness. Should I have exercised more, eaten better, taken vitamins, or avoided certain medications? Was it caused by stress or environmental toxins? I still don't know, but God does. And He lifted me with His grace. He will lift you, too.

When we cry out to God, He lifts our sinking hearts and weariness with His grace of tender mercies. He lifts our feelings of loneliness and unfairness with His grace of lovingkindness. He lifts our guilt, our foolishness, and our sins with His grace of salvation through Jesus Christ—God's amazing grace. So like David, we can sing and “magnify Him with thanksgiving.”

Dear God, thank You for your grace that lifts me each day I journey with this illness. On the days I am struggling and feel I am sinking, help me remember to cry out for Your grace to lift me up. On the days I am feeling stronger and everyday life is not so difficult, help me remember to thank You for your grace that gives me good days. In Jesus' name I pray. Amen.

Singing Seniors

Do you like to harmonize to old favorite hymns and Christmas songs? Our God lives in the praises of His people. We can make beautiful music of praise, whatever our age ! Especially to those of us who've enjoyed singing to and for our Lord for most of our lives, harmony is rich! Please pray about this and come join our (mature) voices together! We'll plan to have short practice sessions to refresh our memories of familiar songs. Daniel would like us to sing about once a month. Rehearsals are Sundays at 5:15 pm. Thanks for giving up brief times of praise to our Lord's glory and honor.

-In His Service,

Winnie

Dear West Side Family,

Thank you very much for the beautiful fall flowers for Del’s brother Junior’s visitation and funeral last Wednesday evening and Thursday morning. They added to the quiet beauty and dignity of his service, conducted by his hospice chaplain. We really appreciated those of you were able to come evening, to visit with Junior’s family ( our extended family.) Thank you: Bill, Margie, Dan, Helen, Ron, Tom, Julie, Al and Pete. Please forgive us if we forgot anyone who came.

Also thanks for the many beautiful cards– such meaningful thoughts and words we have received, and for prayers during the time of Junior’s illness. (Since Shizuko “went home to Jesus.”) The family still needs our prayers during these weeks following Junior’s passing on. (one grandson and his family will soon be returning to Japan, and the other grandchildren were unable to be here.)

We are thankful for such caring thoughtfulness from our Christian friends and family.

Love In Christ– Del and Winnie

Thank you so much for your prayers and the beautiful flowers for my dad.

-Robert Baldwin

Please keep us in your prayers.

Did you know that the biggest factor for church growth is not the man in the pulpit or the size of the building or the nature of the programming, but rather the people in the pews. That right, little old you can make or break a church when it comes to growth.

So with apologies to David Letterman, here's a list for your enjoyment of the "Top Ways To Keep Your Church From Growing":

10. DOMINATE THE PARKING LOT

Even if you're strong & healthy, park as close as you can to the door. Ignore the needs of the elderly & families with young children. This also communicates to visitors that they are less important than you.

9. COME LATE TO CHURCH

Sure it's inconsiderate, but it's not like you're going to work or the ball-game, right! Visitors will catch on & start coming late, too.

8. LEAVE EARLY

This tells visitors that what you have to do is more important than worship service, and it tells the minister that whatever he has to say from the pulpit is not worth your time. Visitors may decide to follow you as you leave.

7. STAY BUT IGNORE THE PROGRAM

Don't sing the hymns, don't pay attention to the worship leader, don't read the scripture references, & don't pay attention to the sermon. Make sure others hear you whispering or see you reading your bulletin. This lets visitors know that the worship hour is boring and irrelevant.

6. CLAIM THE END OF THE PEW AND DON'T GIVE IT UP FOR ANYTHING.

Make visitors crawl over you to find a seat. They probably need the exercise, right! After all, you need that end seat to get a jump on the crowd after church.

5. LET VISITORS SEE YOUR DOLLAR BILL GOING INTO THE COLLECTION PLATE.

That way they'll catch on quickly that generous stewardship is no big deal. The church should be able to support excellent programming, staff, facilities, and missions with a dollar a week from every worshipper.

4. COMPLAIN

It doesn't matter about what; just complain (about the length of service, the temperature in the sanctuary, or even the color of the minister's tie!) this has a wonderful way of throwing a damper over the entire worship service.

3. TALK TO PEOPLE YOU ALREADY KNOW

Visitors probably don't care if you leave them standing there feeling awkward because no one is speaking to them. It gives them a chance to look over the crowd.

2. PLOW THROUGH THE HALLWAY IGNORING ANYONE NEEDING DIRECTIONS

That's what ministers and greeters are for, right?

1. LOOK FOR A REASON TO QUIT COMING TO CHURCH

You'll find it and so will visitors.

If we do these things we should be able to successfully discourage visitors from coming back. It's worth a try to keep the church small, pure and friendly. (NOTE: This article is submitted tongue-in-cheek but it is food-for-thought. Let's remember the words of Jesus that "he who would be the greatest among you must be the servant of all." (Matthew 20:26) and we will see our church grow,

Dan
