They devoted themselves to the apostles' teaching and fellowship, to the breaking of bread and the prayers. Awe came upon everyone, because many wonders and signs were being done by the apostles. All who believed were together and had all things in common; they would sell their possessions and goods and distribute the proceeds to all, as any had need. Day by day, as they spent much time together in the temple, they broke bread at home and ate their food with glad and generous hearts, praising God and having the goodwill of all the people. And day by day the Lord added to their number those who were being saved.

(Acts 2:42-47)

This is the less-known and most beautiful ending of the Pentecost story of Acts 2. Isn't it stunningly hopeful? Who wouldn't want to belong to a Church like this? How does this description hit you in these days of our gathering back together?

Given some recent conversations I've had with friends and strangers, it would seem that Church has met its match when it comes to this central aspect of blessed community. The "A" word has reared its ugly head: ANONYMITY. More than one conversation has led to a statement like this: "I/we are not looking for a Church community. We need a Church where we can be anonymous." The reflective statement infers that folks (most of us, to one degree or another) are feeling that we have no room left in life for more relationships, for more community, for shared life. "Day by day" time together just isn't possible anymore, sometimes even in our own families. Life is frenetic, feels like a treadmill moving non-stop at 7.8 miles per hour, requiring us to sprint; what we're created for is something in the 3.5 mph range, where a long walk is possible, because we can catch our breath.

We are not created for anonymity. We are created for community, for a recurring experienced pattern of giving and receiving love. We are created for the "day by day" experience of sharing life together. The Church exists to be that community, that place, that space where we can live with Our Lord Jesus and with one another. And here's what I think, that we really deeply want to devote ourselves to Spiritual life and community, but the cultural patterns we face conspire against us, and often leave us feeling helpless - and so exhausted, maxed out, and longing for anonymity.

The invitation is to reflect on the patterns of our lives, and how the teaching and fellowship and bread-breaking and supportive sharing of the Church is taking shape, and to make these new priorities for ourselves and our loved ones NOT, I repeat, NOT because of guilt, or even out of duty, but because we long for life together, and we want to claim it again as our most abiding need, there is nothing we want more than to grow deeper into the love of Jesus and share that love with each other.

Take a moment to read the scripture again. Consider the treasure we have in the Church. Joy comes in the life we share day by day. Can we work together on living this way? Pray about it with me.

Children's Rotation Sunday School

What is it?

We're looking forward to another great year of Rotation Sunday School. What is Rotation Sunday School? This curriculum style focuses on teaching major Bible stories and concepts through kid-friendly, multi-media workshops, such as: art, drama, music, cooking, puppets, storytelling, games, audio-visual, and woodworking. Children learn the same Bible story four consecutive weeks, rotating to a different workshop each week. Personal connection, familiarity and continuity are provided by a volunteer called a "shepherd." These individuals accompany the children each week and focus on building relationships.

2013-2014 Theme: THE WORD OF GOD

The Word of God, as passed on to us through the Bible and the lives of the faithful, is a multifaceted jewel providing for us many different ways to enter into the story of faith. It is from these words that we receive guidance and support as we travel on the journey of faith. From the ancient text of Genesis to the power of Revelation God's word continues to be relevant to our lives.

Unit 1, September 15-October 6: How the Bible Came to Be

Thou Art: After viewing examples of illuminated manuscripts, particularly the Book of Kells and the St. John's Bible, kids will create an illuminated verse.

Garden of Eatin': Kids will become familiar with the books of the Bible by associating them with various foods.

Kingdom Characters: Kids will hear St. Jerome tell his story about why he translated the Bible from Greek and Hebrew to Latin, and they'll experience the translation process.

Moved by the Spirit: Kids will become a team of Bible librarians who race to organize all of the books of the Bible on a shelf, first by type of book and then by order. They'll play Bible Baseball to learn how to look up scripture.

Share your faith and gifts with our kids by leading a workshop!

Being a workshop leader is a great way to share your gifts with our kids. Less preparation is involved than traditional teaching, as you will prepare the same lesson for each of three age groups, and lead the workshop just three Sundays. Choose a workshop that connects with your skills or interests, and discover how you can share faith with our kids in a fun and meaningful way! Contact pastor Andrea if you're interested or would like any information about workshops we're doing this year, including the four listed above.

"The Reason for God:

Conversations on Faith and Life,"

A DVD and discussion facilitated by Peter Hawkinson in the Upper Room, September 15-October 20

Captured live and unscripted, pastor and author Timothy Keller meets with a group of people over six sessions to address their doubts and objections to Christianity. Using literature, philosophy, real-life experiences and the Bible, Keller and the group explore the truth of Christianity. This series gives fascinating insight into non-Christians' perspective of Christians and Christian belief and practice and helps us think about how to interact with them in honest ways around their questions.

Sessions include:

1. Isn't the Bible a Myth?
2. How Can You Say There Is Only One Way to God?
3. What Gives You the Right to Tell Me How to Live My Life?
4. Why Does God Allow Suffering?
5. Why Is the Church Responsible for So Much Injustice?
6. How Can God Be Full of Love and Wrath at the Same Time?

Coming in October and November: Five weeks with Kurt Peterson on "American Christianity: From the Puritans to Billy Graham"

Music Notes

August is flying by, but the seasonal changes are a beautiful thing. Like many of you, we're squeezing in lots of family visits, summer projects, and just plain soaking it all in. Lately, I've found myself catching up to bushels of apples falling from the tree.

Have no fear, I've also been planning LOTS of upcoming music - some real gems culminating in the Christmas sounds at calendar's end.

Meanwhile, mark your calendars for Sunday, September 29 at 4:00 p.m. Joshua Smith and his sister Brittany will present a concert of organ and harp music. Carolyn Carlson has commissioned this event in honor of many loved ones. Its sure to be a treat.

Looking ahead, start dreaming up those FUN and crazy talent acts for our SATURDAY, November 2, Harvest Dinner and Talent Night. Contact Kurt Peterson, John Wallgren, Worship committee members or myself about YOUR talent 'act'.

Mary Beth Molenaar will share Piano music in worship September 1. Choir will resume our ministry September 8 with a launch rehearsal Saturday, September 7 from 9:30-11:30. It would be a great time to put some singing in your life and join the choir ministry.

Music 4 Kids (age 5-5th grade) will resume, coinciding with the Wednesday night activities schedule. We meet in the choir room from 5:00-5:30. There are still opening(s) for musical assistant(s) to welcome kids, assist with attendance and various instrument assignments. Contact me by phone, e-mail or in church.

Since we sent Dominic on to grad school (North Park, by the way!!) we are blessed to have his brother, Dimitri German, and fellow Moody music student, Steven Braun, as music Interns this year. They already were singing with us as volunteers last Spring! They will be singing in choir, helping with Wednesday night Upper Room singing, Sunday School Christmas program, and periodically singing with and leading our Youth Ensemble. Youth, check your facebook and/or e-mail for invitation to this opportunity for some great music-making. Please let me know of your interest in music at church. (I'm on facebook)

Thanks to all for keeping musical praise alive and well at Winnetka Covenant.

Bless the Lord, O my soul, and all that is within me bless his Holy name.

Missionary of the month - Christine Buettgen

Each month the mission committee will be featuring a Mission or Missionary that is supported by our church.

Christine was raised and nurtured in the Christian faith here at WCC. She is currently serving a 2-year term in the Democratic Republic of Congo as a Covenant World Mission Project Missionary.

Christine writes:

Mbote mingi from Congo!

I arrived in Congo 16 months ago now, and have learned and changed so much in that short time. I am settled in my house and receive visitors almost weekly (Guestroom! What a novelty) and have a reliable ATV that gets me wherever I need to go. In fact, I like it so much that I might just buy one when I head back home to the States ... is my neck turning red?

My CWM project work is taking off. Our Savings Groups are currently 180 members strong and new groups are being formed monthly. We continue trainings on business management, health, vocational skills, and replication of the SG model. The original 12 women I have trained are like my family now, along with Mambo, the co-director. On my birthday during our training session we sang and danced to one of my favorite Lingala songs and they all prayed strength and blessing over me, it was just the gift I needed. This group has become a rock for me.

In addition to the CWM project work, I am serving as a liaison with World Vision and the Covenant Kids Congo program right here in Gemena. And, I recently wrote a large grant proposal for World Vision that would provide livestock gifts and trainings using our Savings Group model as a platform. This could have a widespread impact, please pray with me that we find favor with the proposal review board in the States.

I speak French and Lingala fluently, using Lingala more than French, which is exciting. The World Vision office operates in French so I still get to practice it on a regular basis.

It's very cool to be putting all my education to work and to see how thankful people are for me to share my knowledge. That's what I love about sustainable development: it's all about passing on knowledge, not just funds. This is the work I have always dreamed of doing, and God has brought me all this way. I am truly grateful.

While I love my work and I have hope in its success, this remains a very difficult culture/country to navigate. The days here can seem endless, and I often feel that this is my marathon. The gap between my wealth and those I live with isolates me from having genuine friendships, as much as I have tried to bridge the gap. There are a few exceptions to this, but it is a daily struggle for me to see terrible injustices and not have a good friend to really process with. I've always been so dependent on my friends and family for my emotional health so it is a big challenge to do life without them. Please pray that I would have strength for each new day, and that God would give me His eyes to see people here, and not rely on my own sight. Pray for my rest and rejuvenation too, as there is no place to take a "vacation" to that isn't a few plane rides away.

I have always been thankful for your unwavering support of me as a church, through every phase of my life. Thank you for loving me well so I could in turn share God's heart with this community in Congo.

Blessings on you all,
Christine
