TIM TALK

This is the year I will make a difference.

Now is the time.

Today is the day.

I will not make excuses.

I will not wait for someone else to do it.

I WILL make a difference for Jesus.

Those are the words with which I want to begin every Sunday morning throughout the year 2011. Sunday's sermon was a bit, shall we say, in your face. My prayer is that you were challenged to begin the difference-making process with yourself. I hope that as you examined your spiritual walk, you were moved to correct or strengthen those things that need attention.

I shared on Sunday night our plan of study for the year, but I wanted to put it here for your consideration as well. I ask you to pray for these sermons, that God will speak through them to make differences in all our lives.

During the first quarter, we will be studying together the theme "Jesus Makes A Difference." We will look at the personal interactions of the Savior and see how those encounters changed people's lives. On Sunday nights, we will be studying "Who Is God" by examining all the names that God has used throughout scripture to reveal Himself.

In April, our lessons will be built around the theme "The Word Makes A Difference." We will undertake the challenge of reading the bible through in 90 days. I will share more information about this as we get closer. Our sermons will follow the thread of God's beautiful plan from Genesis to Revelation.

From July through September, our theme will be "Ordinary People Make a Difference." We will go back through the pages of the Word and highlight some of those ordinary people who, with God, did some extraordinary things.

Then, we will close out the year by studying the theme "How I Can Make A Difference." We will try to put into action the love of Jesus, the power of the Word, and our own (God-given) talents and abilities to really make a difference in the lives of those around us.

I am excited to see what God can do through you this year! Are you ready to make a difference? Until we meet again...TWP
