Jennifer Higdon

I was born and raised in Fresno. I had the blessing of being raised in a Christian home and chose at a young age to invite Jesus into my heart and live my life for the Lord. I followed my decision to live for Christ and was baptized in Junior High. I continue to strive each day to be the Godly woman that I was created to be. My life is a testimony to God's love and faithfulness, and I pray that God will use my life to bless others. I am a first grade teacher at River Bluff Elementary in Central Unified. It is such a joy to have the opportunity to work with and impact the lives of the students and families that I am blessed with each year. I have many things that bring joy to my life. I enjoy running, doing crafts, ribbons, glitter, butterflies, stars, baseball, listening to music, and keeping busy to me each day is an opportunity to shine for Jesus.

I am getting married. One and half years ago Nick entered my life and I knew this was the man my family and I have been praying for. He is a man after God's own heart, a leader, my love, and my best friend. We are a team with God as our owner. Nick as our manager and I am utility player, ready to fit any role needed. Nick is in the US Navy and is currently on the first of many seven months deployments. He will be out to sea about 70% of the time, over the next four years. God is our foundation, strength, and peace during our time apart. We have incredible family and friends supporting us and the WPCOC family has been amazing as well. I anxiously await his return and our wedding day. We have set a date for October 8th but have to be flexible if his return is delayed. We our stationed at the 32nd street Naval base in San Diego. I have been given the opportunity to teach part time next year in Fresno and will commute to San Diego on my off days. We pray that together, God can use us to serve those that we are surrounded by. There are many changes in our future but there is peace in knowing that God has a plan for us. If things never change, we wouldn't have butterflies.
